Paragraph 75 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

75a. Recalls the Member States’ obligations under arms control, non-proliferation and disarmament regimes and reaffirms its full support for them; underlines the need and obligation to take effective measures for nuclear disarmament; reiterates that international peace and security can only be strengthened in a world free from the existence of nuclear weapons and that nuclear war can never be won and must never be fought; urges the EU, its Member States and NATO to strive towards an ambitious agenda for the preservation and strengthening of effective international arms control, disarmament and non-proliferation, in order to move forward with the global reduction and elimination of nuclear arsenals; calls on the EU Member States and the EU to positively approach the Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons by becoming at least observer states;

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 79 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

79a. Calls for the EU and NATO to commit to including the rights of military personnel in their common agreements; stresses the need to highlight the social and human dimensions of armed forces and the need to put that topic on the agenda of upcoming EU-NATO discussions when extending or revising agreed actions; believes that in order to support the idea of making the armed forces more diverse and inclusive, it is important to protect the human rights and fundamental freedoms of armed forces personnel, including the right to association, with a view to ensuring labour, gender and LGBTIQ rights are addressed at upcoming EU-NATO meetings;

96. Will pay particular attention to ensuring that the special nature of military affairs is better reflected in European Union law; recalls, to this end, that Parliament is in favour of preserving the military’s status, which meets the very specific requirements of the military profession and constitutes the guarantee of the armed forces’ effectiveness in each of the Member States; calls for the intelligence services’ intervention capacities to be preserved, as these services cannot carry out their task of protecting national security without retaining access to connection data provided in full, as a preventive measure, for a sufficient period of time and under the supervision of the national courts and the European Convention on Human Rights; takes notes of Council’s adoption of its general approach on the Single European Sky package; recalls the need to safeguard Member States’ sovereignty and European armed forces’ freedom to act; recalls, in respect of the provision of services, the national security imperatives relating to access, reliability and integrity of data, and insists that the inclusion of military safeguard clauses in EU regulations should make it possible to meet this twofold challenge;
