EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Council Directive 89/629/EEC allowed certain noisy planes to continue their operations, despite exceeding the noise norms at the time, on the condition that they had been registered by a Member State prior to the Directive's entry into force. At the same time, the Directive disallowed new registrations of this kind of aircraft.

In 2006, the European Parliament and the Council adopted Directive 2006/93/EC, which introduced a complete phase - out for all aircraft not meeting the relevant noise emission standards, including those previously covered by Directive 89/629/EEC. The current proposal aims at repealing the Council Directive 89/629, which has become obsolete.

The Commission presented it to the Transport and Tourism (TRAN) Committee in the European Parliament during its meeting of 10 October 2022 and, based on this presentation, and following TRAN coordinators' decision of 3 October, as Chairwoman, I proposed to approve the proposal without any amendments in line with the simplified procedure (Rule 52).
