Motion for a resolution
Recital B

Motion for a resolution

B. whereas those values form the basis of the EU's relations with third parties;

Amendment

B. whereas the current situation in which some Member States pursue bilateral contacts with Moscow while official EU-level contacts are frozen in reaction to Russian occupation of Crimea is not in EU's interest and a new EU proactive strategy towards Russia would be an opportunity to unite all Member States and shape relations with Moscow in the interest of the EU as a whole;

Or. en

Amendment 15
Jean-Luc Schaffhauser

Motion for a resolution
Recital C

Motion for a resolution

C. whereas the EU's relations with Russia must be based on the principles of international law and credible deterrence, and on a principled approach in areas of common interest as defined in the Foreign Affairs Council conclusions of 14 March 2016;

Amendment

C. whereas the EU's relations with Russia must be based on the principles of international law and credible deterrence, and on a principled approach in areas of common interest as defined in the Foreign Affairs Council conclusions of 14 March 2016; whereas the Member States of the EU and NATO have repeatedly violated international law, most grievously when NATO attacked Yugoslavia in 1999, without UN Security Council approval, but also when NATO pursued a regime change operation in Libya in 2011, grossly exceeding and indeed violating its mandate to protect civilians; whereas the US and the UK illegally invaded and occupied Iraq in 2003; whereas EU countries and the US supported the illegal and violent seizure of power in Ukraine on 22 February 2014 against the democratically elected and internationally

recognised president, Victor Yanukovich, an act which plunged that country, and relations with Russia, into severe crisis;
