Council of the authoritarian regimes of Cuba, China and Russia, providing a veneer of international legitimacy behind which regimes that breach human rights can cover up their abuses; also calls for Venezuela's membership to be revoked – the country has been a member of the Human Rights Council since October 2019; it is stated in the Human Rights Council's report of 15 September 2020 that the government and security forces committed crimes against humanity with the knowledge of President Nicolás Maduro and two of his ministers; point out that if the UN maintains its international complicity with countries whose governments have sad track records of cracking down on fundamental democratic freedoms, the universal ideal of the 1948 Universal Declaration of Human Rights will be further away than ever;
