Serbia following the elections<sup>6</sup>,

- having regard to Rule 55 of its Rules of Procedure,
- having regard to the report of the Committee on Foreign Affairs (A10-0000/2025),
- A. whereas enlargement is one of the most successful EU foreign policy instruments and a strategic geopolitical investment in long-term peace, stability and security throughout the continent;
- B. whereas democracy and the rule of law are the fundamental values on which the EU is founded;
- C. whereas each candidate country for enlargement is judged on its own merits;
- D. whereas Serbia has not imposed sanctions against Russia following the Russian aggression in Ukraine;

Commitment to EU accession

1. Notes Serbia's stated commitment to EU membership as its strategic goal and its ambition to align fully with the EU acquis by the end of 2026; stresses the need for Serbia to seriously demonstrate that it is strategically oriented towards the EU and to communicate objectively and unambiguously on the EU;
2. Reiterates the strategic importance of the Western Balkans in today's geopolitical context and for the security and stability of the EU as a whole, and highlights the significance of Serbia's influence in the region;
3. Notes with concern that there has been limited or no overall progress in meeting the benchmarks for EU membership across negotiating chapters, with particular shortcomings in critical areas such as the rule of law, public administration reform, and alignment with EU policies;
4. Regrets the fact that no progress has been made on Chapter 31, as Serbia's pattern of alignment with EU foreign policy positions has remained largely unchanged;
5. Calls on Serbia to align with the EU's restrictive measures and general policy towards Russia, systematically and without delay;
6. Notes Serbia's progress on aligning with EU visa policy and calls for full alignment;
7. Reiterates that the overall pace of the accession negotiations continues to depend on tangible progress on the fundamentals and the Belgrade-Pristina Dialogue, in addition to alignment with the common foreign and security policy;

Democracy and the rule of law

8. Notes the ongoing challenges in ensuring judicial independence, including undue influence on the judiciary;

9. Stresses the importance of adopting the Law on the Judicial Academy;
10. Notes that limited progress has been made in the fight against corruption despite the adoption of a new anti-corruption strategy for 2024-2028; expresses concern that corruption is still prevalent in many areas;
11. Welcomes the more pluralistic composition of the new parliament, with a broader representation of political parties; notes that the early election and the corresponding break in the functioning of the government and parliament have impeded progress on reforms;
12. Reiterates its readiness to support the National Assembly and the members thereof in the democratic processes related to Serbia's European path by using the European Parliament's existing democracy support tools and initiatives;
13. Takes note, with concern, of the final report of the OSCE/ODIHR election observation mission on the December 2023 elections; considers it essential to reform the electoral framework and address the recurrent shortcomings; underlines the critical importance of implementing all outstanding and recent recommendations on electoral reform issued by the OSCE/ODIHR and the Council of Europe bodies, as part of a transparent and inclusive process, and ahead of any new elections;
14. Stresses the critical importance of ensuring the independence of key institutions, including media regulators such as the Regulatory Authority for Electronic Media; regrets the delay in the election of the new members; deeply regrets the fact that the Regulatory Authority for Electronic Media neglected its legal obligations to scrutinise the conduct of the 2023 election campaign in the media;

Fundamental freedoms and human rights

15. Expresses its sincere condolences to the families of the 15 victims who lost their lives following the collapse of the canopy of Novi Sad train station on 1 November 2024; calls for full and transparent legal proceedings to be opened following the investigation by the authorities;
16. Expresses deep concern about the systemic issues highlighted by the student protests in Serbia, such as issues relating to civil liberties, institutional and financial transparency, and accountability;
17. Underlines the importance of freedom of speech and assembly; condemns, in the strongest terms, the violent attacks against peaceful protesters; is concerned that some of the protesters were arrested and that legal proceedings have been opened against them; urges the diplomatic missions of the EU and the Member States to continue monitoring the ongoing legal cases relating to the protests;
18. Strongly condemns the Serbian authorities' unsubstantiated allegations that EU Member States were involved in organising the student protests with a view to triggering a 'colour revolution'; strongly condemns, in that context, the unlawful arrests and expulsions of EU citizens and the public disclosure, by convicted war criminals, of the personal data of EU citizens;

19. Urges the Serbian Government to increase the transparency of media ownership and financing; calls on the authorities to investigate and prosecute all instances of hate speech, smear campaigns and strategic lawsuits against journalists;
20. Underlines the importance of a framework that enables civil society organisations to operate freely and participate in policymaking in inclusive and meaningful ways;
21. Calls on Serbia to fight disinformation, including manipulative anti-EU narratives and, in particular, state-sponsored disinformation campaigns; condemns the opening of an RT (formerly Russia Today) office in Belgrade and the launch of RT's online news service in Serbian;
22. Takes note of the adoption of the national strategy for gender equality and the strategy for prevention of and protection against discrimination, and calls for their full implementation;

Reconciliation and good neighbourly relations

23. Reiterates that good neighbourly relations and regional cooperation remain essential elements of the enlargement process;
24. Urges Serbia to step up its reconciliation efforts and seek solutions to past disputes, in particular when it comes to missing persons;
25. Reiterates its full support for the EU-facilitated dialogue and welcomes the appointment of Peter Sørensen as the EU Special Representative for the Belgrade-Pristina Dialogue;
26. Reiterates the importance of constructive engagement on the part of the authorities of both Serbia and Kosovo in order to achieve a comprehensive legally binding normalisation agreement; calls on both Kosovo and Serbia to avoid unilateral actions that could escalate tensions; calls for all past agreements to be respected and fully implemented, including the establishment of the Association/Community of Serb-majority municipalities; calls on the negotiating parties to restore the full functioning of all Kosovo institutions;
27. Expects Kosovo and Serbia to fully cooperate and take all the necessary measures to apprehend and swiftly bring to justice the perpetrators of the 2023 terrorist attack in Banjska; deplores the fact that Serbia still has not prosecuted the culprits, most notably Milan Radoičić, the Vice-President of Srpska Lista; reiterates that the perpetrators of the terrorist attack in Zubin Potok must also be held accountable and must face justice without delay;
28. Calls on the Vice-President of the Commission / High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy and on the Commission to take a more proactive role in leading the dialogue process; calls for an enhanced role for the European Parliament in facilitating the dialogue;

Socio-economic reforms

29. Welcomes Serbia's partial progress towards developing a functioning market economy with positive GDP growth; reiterates the need for more substantial reforms in the labour market, education and public administration;
30. Welcomes Serbia's active engagement in the implementation of the new Growth Plan for the Western Balkans; takes note of the fact that Serbia adopted its Reform Agenda on 3 October 2024; calls for the relevant EU funding to be reprogrammed to redirect more funds towards supporting judiciary reforms and anti-corruption measures;

Energy, the environment, sustainable development and connectivity

31. Notes the legislative progress in the area of the environment and climate change;
32. Takes note of the EU-Serbia memorandum of understanding launching a strategic partnership on sustainable raw materials, battery value chains and electric vehicles; considers that the promotion of the highest environmental standards and dialogue with the affected populations, the scientific community and civil society should be at the centre of any such strategic partnership;
33. Reiterates the importance of diversifying Serbia's energy supply to reduce its dependency on Russia;
34. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the President of the European Council, the Commission, the Vice-President of the Commission / High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy, the governments and parliaments of the Member States and the President, Government and National Assembly of Serbia.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

This report provides Parliament's response to the 2023 and 2024 European Commission Reports on Serbia, reflecting recent events in the country marked by concerns over the state of democracy and the rule of law.

Serbia has been advancing towards EU accession since 2012, when it received candidate country status. Since the opening of Serbia's accession negotiations in January 2014, 22 out of 35 chapters have been opened. All chapters in cluster 1 on the fundamentals and all chapters in cluster 4 on the Green agenda and sustainable connectivity have been opened. Two chapters have provisionally been closed. In June 2021, Serbia accepted the revised enlargement methodology.

Despite some progress in negotiations, Serbia still has major hurdles to overcome: improving internal political dialogue, rule of law and anti-corruption reforms, reaching a comprehensive normalisation agreement with Kosovo, and full alignment with EU foreign policy.

Ensuring the independence of key institutions, including media regulators such as the Regulatory Authority for Electronic Media (REM), and full implementation of all outstanding and recent recommendations by the OSCE/ODIHR and the Council of Europe bodies on electoral reform in a transparent and inclusive process and well ahead of any new elections, remain of critical importance.
