Justification

A two-year transition period will provide farmers with stability and certainty, allowing them an appropriate period of time within which to adapt to the new rules laid down in the future CAP legislation. Those rules will first have to be given force of law by the national governments so that they can draw up their Strategic Plans, enabling farmers to prepare themselves for the new Common Agricultural Policy. To that end, all necessary adjustments should be made to the text of the Regulation, with a view to extending the transition period until 31 December 2022.

Amendment 116
Álvaro Amaro

Proposal for a regulation
Recital 4 b (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(4b) This Regulation should give the Member States sufficient time to prepare their respective national strategic plans and the administrative structures necessary for successful implementation of the new legal framework. This should not discourage Member States from presenting their respective national strategic plans in a timely manner. In addition, all national strategic plans should enter into force after the transition period and at the same time. Under no circumstances should different countries apply different rules.

In accordance with the need to transfer all of the EAFRD budget allocation for the transitional period, the extended programmes should aim at maintaining at least the same overall level of environment and climate ambition.

Or. en

Justification

We believe it is necessary to ensure a flexible extension of the RDP. There must be an opportunity in 2021 (in the RDP extension year) to mobilize funds from the new financial period (EAFRD), taking into account the real need for funds in individual RDP interventions. The proposed 'all or nothing' approach for the transfer of EC funds (between periods) does not allow this. Such an opportunity could be based on existing practice, transition from 2007-2013 to 2014-2020, as foreseen by the EP and Council Regulation (EU) No 1310/2013 (December 17, 2013), Article 1.

The extended programmes should aim at maintaining at least the same overall level of environment and climate ambition.

Amendment

(5) In light of the fact that the Union should continue to support rural development in 2021 and, where applicable, in 2022, Member States, that demonstrate the risk to run out of funds and not to be able to undertake new legal commitments in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 1305/2013, should have the possibility to extend their rural development programmes or certain of their regional rural development programmes supported by the EAFRD to 31 December 2021 and to finance those extended programmes from the corresponding budget allocation for the year 2021. The extended programmes should aim at maintaining at least the same overall level of environment and climate ambition, thereby requiring at least the same overall level of EAFRD expenditure for the measures referred to in Article 59(6) of that Regulation.

Or. en

Justification

This amendment is tabled in order to clarify that the level of environment and climate ambition should be measured according to article 59 (6) 1305/2013 Regulation, it means minimum of 30% of EAFRD expenditure.

should continue to support rural development in 2021, Member States, that demonstrate the risk to run out of funds and not to be able to undertake new legal commitments in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 1305/2013, should have the possibility to extend their rural development programmes or certain of their regional rural development programmes supported by the EAFRD to 31 December 2021 and to finance those extended programmes from the corresponding budget allocation for the year 2021. should continue to support rural development in 2021 or, where applicable, in 2022, Member States, that demonstrate the risk to run out of funds and not to be able to undertake new legal commitments in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 1305/2013, should have the possibility to extend their rural development programmes or certain regional rural development programmes supported by the EAFRD during the transitional period and to finance those extended programmes from the budget allocation for the corresponding years. The extended programmes should aim at maintaining at least the same percentage of the EAFRD expenditure for environment and climate ambition.

Or. en

Justification

While the Commission proposal regarding the MFF translates into a cut of rural development funding, the present text on this transitional regulation means that the overall level of EAFRD expenditure for environment and climate ambition must be maintained. It needs to be clarified that the overall level of environment and climate ambition must be a percentage share of the EAFRD commitments of the current programming period, instead of a plain numerical value. Otherwise, rural development measures would need to be completely recalculated and reprogrammed for the transitional period.

(5) In light of the fact that the Union should continue to support rural development in 2021, Member States, that demonstrate the risk to run out of funds and not to be able to undertake new legal commitments in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 1305/2013, should have the possibility to extend their rural development programmes or certain of their regional rural development programmes supported by the EAFRD to 31 December 2021 and to finance those extended programmes from the corresponding budget allocation for the year 2021. The extended programmes should aim at maintaining at least the percentage of the EAFRD expenditure for environment and climate ambition.

Or. en

Justification

The EC proposal on the MFF contains a reduction of the RD budget whereas the current drafting of the transition regulation suggests that the extended RD program should aim at maintaining at least the same overall level of expenditures for environment and climate related measures. It needs to be clarified that “overall level” means the current share of EAFRD expenditures used for environment and climate ambition and not the total amount dedicated to environment and climate measures. Otherwise, Member States will have to recalculate, reprogram and rebalance their RD program entirely.

Proposal for a regulation
Recital 29

Text proposed by the Commission

(29) Article 30 of Regulation (EU) No 1307/2013 provides for the annual progressive modifications in the value of the payment entitlements allocated from the reserve to reflect the annual steps of the national ceiling set in Annex II to that Regulation, reflecting a “multiannual” management of the reserve. Those rules should be adapted so to reflect that it is possible to amend both the value of all allocated entitlements and of the reserve to adjust to a change in the amount in that Annex II between two years. Moreover, in some Member States not having reached a flat rate by 2019, internal convergence is implemented on an annual basis. For calendar years 2020 and 2021, only the value of the payment entitlement of the current year needs to be determined in the year of allocation. The unit value of entitlements to be allocated from the reserve in a given year should be calculated after possible adjustment of the reserve in accordance with Article 22(5) of that Regulation. In any subsequent year, the value of the payment entitlements allocated from the reserve should be adapted in accordance with that Article 22(5).

Amendment

(29) Article 30 of Regulation (EU) No 1307/2013 provides for the annual progressive modifications in the value of the payment entitlements allocated from the reserve to reflect the annual steps of the national ceiling set in Annex II to that Regulation, reflecting a “multiannual” management of the reserve. Those rules should be adapted so to reflect that it is possible to amend both the value of all allocated entitlements and of the reserve to adjust to a change in the amount in that Annex II between two years. Moreover, in some Member States not having reached a flat rate by 2019, internal convergence is implemented on an annual basis. Amendment

In the event that a Member State does not need the complete annual breakdown for the year 2021 for the extension of its rural development programme or regional programmes, it may use a partial extension of the rural development programme or regional programmes.

Justification

Partial extension will be needed for rural development programmes for only certain measures that need their extension in 2021. In these cases, the rural development programme will not be able to use all the annual breakdown for 2021.

Or. it

Justification

It is proposed that the notification procedure for Member States and the subsequent authorisation by the Commission for the amendment of rural development programmes be simplified. Such an amendment shall aim at maintaining at least the same percentage of the EAFRD expenditure for the measures referred to in Article 59(6) of that Regulation.

Or. it

Justification

It is proposed to include also the programme for the year 2022, while attempting to clarify the meaning of 'same overall level', which seeks to indicate the current percentage of EAFRD expenditure used for environmental and climate ambitions rather than the total amount earmarked for environmental and climate measures. Otherwise, Member States will have to recalculate, replan and completely revise their RD programmes. These efforts would not, therefore, be proportional and would not be able to be implemented during the transitional period.

Such an amendment shall aim at maintaining at least the same percentage of the EAFRD expenditure for the measures referred to in Article 59(6) of that Regulation.

Or. en

Justification

While the Commission proposal regarding the MFF translates into a cut of rural development funding, the text of this transitional regulation means that the overall level of EAFRD expenditure for environment and climate ambition must be maintained. It needs to be clarified that the overall level of environment and climate ambition must be a percentage share of the EAFRD commitments of the current programming period, instead of a plain numerical value. Otherwise, rural development measures would need to be completely recalculated and reprogrammed for the transitional period.

Justification

Member States should be able to use any unspent financial resources allocated for rural development in the previous 2014-2020 period, by carrying them over for use in the new programming period, starting from the transitional period and also in the CAP Strategic Plan (once it enters into force). Otherwise, the Member State will definitively lose those financial resources, which will return to the EU coffers.

Justification

Given the difficulties in implementing the LEADER initiative encountered in some countries in the current 2014-2020 programming period and in previous programming periods, Member States should be able to decide on the use of community-led local development resources.

The Regulation laying down transitional provisions must be based on current rules and on payment entitlements that are equal to the current amounts. Amendment

(a) such expenditure is provided for in the respective CAP Strategic Plan for 2022- 2027;

Or. en

Justification

The proposed transitional provisions on the eligibility rules for expenditure from previous programming periods are too restrictive. In particular, there is a need to ensure that continuation payments are carried out in accordance with the provisions of the horizontal regulation for the period 2021-2027 (COM (2018) 393). Following the model of solutions for the previous transitional period (1310/2013), it should be possible to make payments on less restrictive terms.

Or. en

Justification

Transitional provisions should also allow regulating long-term commitments undertaken under rural development programs earlier than 2014-2020 period. This approach will enable payments to be made for commitments, e.g. for afforestation undertaken under rural development programs for the 2004-2006 period. The conditions for eligibility for an EAFRD contribution in the period 2022-2027 covered by the CAP Strategic Plan, referred to in the first subparagraph, are as follows:

Justification

The proposed transitional provisions on the eligibility rules for expenditure from previous programming periods are too restrictive. Transitional provisions on intervention in the fruit and vegetables sector should be extended by the possibility to continue the operational programs of the producers' organizations under the "old" rules approved under Regulation No 1308/2013 until they expire naturally.
