Justification

The primary objective of this Regulation should be to reduce risks associated with plant protection products. In general, active substances not or no longer approved can be assumed to be associated with relatively highest risks. In the past, the use of emergency authorisations under Art. 53 of Regulation 1107/2009 has been increasingly used and has been subject to controversies. The reduction of risks associated with the use of plant protection products should therefore tackle the use of active substances not or no longer approved with priority, as this can be expected to make a significant contribution to reduction targets. In order to disincentivise the use of emergency authorisations, it therefore is appropriate to increase the weighing factor of category 4 substances.
