

WRITTEN QUESTION E-1718/00

by Raffaele Costa (PPE-DE), Francesco Fiori (PPE-DE), Stefano Zappalà (PPE-DE), Mario Mantovani (PPE-DE), Vittorio Sgarbi (PPE-DE), Luigi Cesaro (PPE-DE), Amalia Sartori (PPE-DE), Renato Brunetta (PPE-DE), Antonio Tajani (PPE-DE), Giuseppe Gargani (PPE-DE), Francesco Musotto (PPE-DE), Guido Viceconte (PPE-DE), Giorgio Lisi (PPE-DE), Mario Mauro (PPE-DE), Giuseppe Nisticò (PPE-DE), Marcello Dell'Utri (PPE-DE), Guido Podestà (PPE-DE), Raffaele Fitto (PPE-DE), Umberto Scapagnini (PPE-DE), Pier Casini (PPE-DE) and Raffaele Lombardo (PPE-DE) to the Council

Subject: The euro crisis

The undeniable crisis affecting the euro has been, and is, a cause for great concern in all the countries are participating in the single currency, and in the EU in general.

Can the Council as a matter of urgency provide the European Parliament and, more generally, European citizens, with an adequate explanation of the measures that have been, or are to be, taken to put an end to a situation which we all hope is transitory, but which nevertheless has been dragging on for many months?