Subject: Renewable energy

What proportion of the overall TEN-E budget goes to renewable energies, and how much of this goes to Scotland in line with project 3.50 in Annex III of Decision No 1229/2003/EC¹ of the European Parliament and Council of 26 June 2003 laying down a series of guidelines for trans-European energy networks and repealing Decision No 1254/96/EC²?

Which Member States are the worst and best performers in terms of developing renewable energy?
What proportion of EU energy output ought ideally to come from renewables in order to meet the Kyoto targets, and what proportion of that output could potentially come from Scotland in particular?
Can such statistics be broken down into different sources of renewable energy?
