

WRITTEN QUESTION E-3690/09
by Jim Higgins (PPE-DE)
to the Commission

Subject: Compulsory alcohol and drug testing at the scene of accidents in Ireland

Could the Commission please outline what measures (if any) it intends to adopt in order to ensure that the bill to facilitate compulsory testing for alcohol and drugs at the scene of accidents is enacted in Ireland?

The enactment of this Bill has been delayed for over 18 months by the current government.
