to the Commission
Rule 117
Chris Davies (ALDE)

Subject: Motorola Israel

Can the Commission confirm that Motorola Israel is involved in an EU project called iDetecT 4All, and is it aware of reports that this same company has installed radar systems in 47 Israeli settlements across the West Bank?

In view of the EU's condemnation of the existence of these settlements, why is the Commission cooperating with a company that appears to be profiting from activities that contradict the aims of EU policy?
