

Question for written answer E-004022/2013
to the Commission
Rule 117
Rebecca Taylor (ALDE)

Subject: Airport body scanners

The UK Government denies passengers the right to opt out from full-body scanners when passing through security checks at certain airports.

The Commission has confirmed that it is undertaking a legal assessment that aims to verify whether this constitutes a breach of EU law.

Can you state when this legal assessment will be completed?