to the Commission

Rule 130

Subject: Fact-checking campaign regarding the French Presidential election - use of the data

According to the website politico.eu ('For EU, French vote is existential', 30 March 2017): 'In an unusual move, [the Commission is] getting involved in French politics, albeit indirectly, with a fact-checking campaign to counter the anti-EU narrative coming from Le Pen's National Front.'

Will the Commission's 'fact-checking campaign' be carried out for internal purposes only, or will the data collected be made public? How will that be organised?
