Subject: Socially inclusive transition to a low-carbon economy

The EU's 2050 long-term climate strategy highlights the importance of an inclusive transition to a low-carbon economy, noting that 'ensuring a socially fair transition is crucial to ensure a politically feasible transition'.

Can the Commission outline any plans, policies, financial support, or actions envisaged at EU level that would be aimed at ensuring a fair and inclusive transition to a low-carbon economy across the EU by 2050?
