Rule 130

Subject: Access to the Commission's work through a network of European cities

In point 19 of its report of 3 July 2018 on the role of cities in the institutional framework of the Union, Parliament stresses the importance of associations representing cities in the EU, such as EUROCITIES and CEMR. The EP also stresses the importance of a partnership between the Commission and these associations. Is the Commission willing to allow representatives of these associations to take part in the Commission's work on urban affairs when requested by the associations?

The Commission does not refer to this in its follow-up to the above-mentioned report.
