Subject: Consolidated list of persons, groups and entities subject to EU financial sanctions

The current consolidated list of persons, groups and entities subject to EU financial sanctions contains the names, aliases and other details of nearly 1 500 individuals and organisations throughout the world that are to be monitored by all EU Member States to ensure that financial sanctions are fully enforced.

1. What is the cost of this exercise to the EU institutions and Member States?
2. Has a cost-benefit analysis of this exercise been carried out and if so, will the Commission publish it?
3. The UN's financial sanctions list is similar to the EU's, so why is it necessary to duplicate the effort?
