

Question for written answer E-001929/2019
to the Commission
Rule 130
Matt Carthy (GUE/NGL)

Subject: Irish land mapping fine

Can the Commission confirm whether a fine payable by Ireland for failing to conduct accurate land mapping is in the process of being collected and the total sum of the fine, and can it divulge any information on how the money will be clawed back from the beneficiaries of the land mapping?

Can the Commission also confirm the methodology that was used to increase this fine substantially, based on Ireland receiving a fine for the same offence in the past?