

Question for written answer E-002753/2019
to the Commission
Rule 138
Alex Agius Saliba (S&D)

Subject: A just transition

Fighting climate change and environmental deprivation is one of the most pressing global issues. Unfortunately, the costs of this transition are unevenly distributed among the poor and the rich and have immediate and visible effect on millions of workers and citizens, especially those living in remote and rural areas. The social aspects of the green transition have been largely absent from EU policies so far.

What is the Commission planning to do to address the social aspects of the ecological transition so that we can guarantee a fair and just green transition for our citizens?
