

Question for written answer E-004067/2019
to the Commission
Rule 138
Vilija Blinkevičiūtė (S&D)

Subject: Preparing older people for the digital age

The digital transformation is bringing about fundamental and rapid changes in the EU labour market. Adapting to these changes requires a sizeable effort in reskilling workers. Older workers often find themselves at a disadvantage, particularly those who are in search of a new job.

Has the Commission put in place any incentives or programmes to encourage the development of digital skills for older people, in order to increase their employability?