to the Commission

Rule 138

Aileen McLeod (Verts/ALE)

Subject: Combustible cladding on multi-storey buildings in EU Member States

The Commission will be aware of the UK's tragic Grenfell Tower fire in 2017, where combustible cladding installed on the tower ignited and allowed the fire to spread.

Can the Commission advise on whether other EU Member States have experienced issues with combustible cladding on multi-storey buildings, and if so, what actions have been taken to counter and prevent future life-threatening accidents?
