Subject: Spread of Coronavirus through the EU

At present, seven citizens of EU Member States have been infected with Coronavirus. It has already been confirmed that Coronavirus can be transmitted through air droplets. The World Health Organisation announced that the Coronavirus outbreak represents a global threat to public health. The virus has already claimed more than 400 lives and spread to at least 24 countries around the world. Member States' health authorities should therefore not only be prepared to combat Coronavirus, but also to withstand the influx of sick people.

What preventive measures are currently being taken in the EU to stop the spread of Coronavirus?
