Subject: EU funds at risk in France's Grand Est region after Brexit

The European Union's budget, including its regional funds, has always been financed mainly by taxes levied on German, English, French and Italian citizens. On 31 January 2020, the United Kingdom left the European Union.

What are the financial consequences of this departure for the EU funds intended for programmes or projects located in France's Grand Est region?

According to the Commission's estimates, what will the reduction in this budgetary endowment amount to over the period 2021-2027?
