

Question for written answer E-001899/2020
to the Commission

Rule 138

Roman Haider (ID), Georg Mayer (ID)

Subject: Assessment of adequate insurance cover for package holiday companies

The problems surrounding the bankruptcy of package holiday company Thomas Cook highlighted the importance of adequate insurance cover in this area. Chapters V and VI of Directive (EU) 2015/2302¹ deal specifically with this insolvency protection.

1. How does the Commission assess whether adequate insolvency protection is provided by operators, in line with the Directive, in all the Member States?
2. What conclusions has it reached in whatever assessments of this protection it has conducted?
3. In what areas does the Commission see a need for improvement in terms of the Directive and its transposition in the Member States?
