Subject: Armenia-Azerbaijan conflict

The recent outbreak of fighting on the border between Armenia and Azerbaijan is to be deplored, as are the demonstrations in Azerbaijan calling for war with Armenia.

The declaration by Turkey’s President Erdogan stating that Turkey will not hesitate to come to Azerbaijan’s aid can only exacerbate a dangerous situation, and is most unwelcome.

Given Turkey’s role in failed states such as Somalia, Syria and Libya, will the High Representative condemn President Erdogan’s statement and put pressure on the Turkish authorities to stay out of the Armenia-Azerbaijan conflict?
