

Question for written answer E-004667/2020
to the Commission

Rule 138

Jean-Paul Garraud (ID)

Subject: Islamisation of Europe

Lax European immigration policies, which mostly benefit Muslim countries, have shown these countries' populations how weak the EU Member States are and encouraged them to come to Europe in increasing numbers. This explosion in the number of migrants has caused widespread disorder and even chaos in a number of Member States.

Belgium, France, Germany and Sweden, in particular, have been affected by this Islamisation process.

According to a 2020 report by France's General Directorate for Internal Security, some 150 French neighbourhoods are controlled by Islamist fundamentalists. National law is no longer being applied in these neighbourhoods. Sharia law, factionalism and radicalisation hold sway instead.

1. The structure of European societies is changing rapidly. Islamism is spreading and has a growing number of followers. Does the Commission have any data on this trend and how it may change in the future?
2. What measures can the Commission put forward to restore the application of major democratic principles and legal rules in these areas that are currently run by enemies of democracy?
