

Question for written answer E-001942/2021
to the Commission
Rule 138
Harald Vilimsky (ID)

Subject: Transfer of responsibilities to the EU in the field of tourism

The diversity of the tourism sector means that it is impossible for the EU to manage it successfully. A major characteristic of the EU is the tremendous variety within its borders.

1. To what extent should it be possible for the variety inherent in the different Member States to be promoted in a centralised way?
2. How is the transfer of responsibilities to the EU in the field of tourism compatible with the principle of subsidiarity?