Subject: EU emergency aid for flood victims

The storms and rainfall in recent weeks led to devastating floods in some EU countries. Thousands of citizens have had to leave their homes – some will not be able to return. The EU Civil Protection Mechanism was activated and cross-border assistance from other Member States was launched immediately.

In light of the above, the following questions to the European Commission arise:

1. What specific measures have been taken by the Commission in the field of civil protection?
2. Which countries have received aid and how much aid have they received? Does the Commission have a list of aid measures provided?
3. Do the objectives of the Green Deal play a role in the allocation of funds and has the Commission adopted an opinion in this regard?
