

Question for written answer E-005644/2021
to the Commission
Rule 138
Roman Haider (ID)

Subject: European Commission 'guidelines for inclusive communication'

In its 'guidelines for inclusive communication', the European Commission once again demonstrates its firm rejection of European traditions and cultural heritage, telling people, for example, to avoid using the word 'Christmas'.

1. Which institution drew up this document?
2. How much was spent on it?
3. Were external people, companies or other bodies such as NGOs involved in its making and if so, which ones?