

Question for written answer E-000054/2022
to the Commission
Rule 138
Guido Reil (ID)

Subject: Conferences and meetings with remote participation

The measures taken in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, in particular the lockdown measures, have shown that missions can often be replaced by remote conferences and meetings very effectively and without any significant loss of information. This saves both tax money and CO<sub>2</sub>.

How exactly does the Commission take these findings into account when planning and budgeting future activities, meetings, conferences and missions?