1. The Commission is working very closely with the relevant EU agencies and Member States under the framework of the Migration Preparedness and Crisis Blueprint Network to enhance the EU’s collective preparedness and contingency planning. Additionally, on 10 June 2022, the European Commission presented in the Justice and Home Affairs council the state of play in the implementation of the 10 Points Plan\(^1\) for Ukraine.

2. On 23 March 2022, the Commission outlined the EU actions\(^2\) being taken to support Member States in matching the needs of those fleeing Ukraine, epitomised by the first-ever activation of the Temporary Protection Directive. A Solidarity Platform was also set up to coordinate cooperation and solidarity offers between Member States as well as the needs identified, including reception capacity. The EU is also mobilising funding instruments to address different aspects of this crisis and host a high number of persons. This builds on the wide range of assistance available under Union Civil Protection Mechanism, Cohesion Policy and Home Affairs funds, and will include investments in education, employment, housing, health, social and childcare.

3. The European Union Asylum Agency is assisting Romania and other Member States in coping with high pressure on their asylum and reception systems as well as in implementing the Temporary Protection Directive. The Union Civil Protection Mechanism could support in providing emergency temporary shelter if needed. Additional EU financial support is available via the Home Affairs Funds\(^3\) and the Cohesion Policy Funds (including REACT-EU)\(^4\).
