to the Council

Rule 138

Özlem Demirel (The Left)

Subject: Police and customs cooperation centres

Currently, 59 police and customs cooperation centres (PCCCs) are in operation, bringing together law enforcement agencies from different EU countries at various internal border locations. In addition to exchanging information, they are also called upon to coordinate large-scale cross-border operations.

1. How many police and customs cooperation centres are currently operating in the EU and where are they located?
2. Which countries are participating?
3. What EU resources are currently being channelled into the centres or the projects being conducted there?
