

Question for written answer E-000659/2023/rev.1
to the Commission
Rule 138
Sara Cerdas (S&D)

Subject: Providing environmental education and combating climate change denial

While we cannot disregard the responsibility of industry and supply in general, the people of the EU also have a role to play in our green transition and should opt for more sustainable products and services in order to adapt those on offer.

1. How can the commission help to provide environmental education to people of all ages and young people in particular?
2. Is the Commission planning any measures specifically to combat climate change denial?
3. What other legislative and non-legislative measures are in place to ensure people are involved in decision-making processes and encourage much-needed societal change with regard to sustainability?
