

Question for written answer E-001878/2023
to the Commission

Rule 138

Daniel Caspary (PPE)

Subject: The installation of fish ladders in watercourses

In the context of existing European legislation, Member States are obliged to install fish ladders in watercourses. In this context:

1. To what extent have Member States fulfilled their transposition obligations?
2. To what extent are there differences between Member States and how are these justified?
3. Is the implementation being institutionally monitored and, if so, what has the Commission learned?
