

Question for written answer E-002880/2023
to the Commission
Rule 138
Victor Negrescu (S&D)

Subject: A European statute for students

According to Eurostat, there are 18 million students in Europe. Despite the efforts made, there are still real differences between Member States when it comes to students' status.

1. To what extent will the Commission be putting into practice the requests from student organisations to create a European statute for students, with rights and obligations?
2. In the light of the target of establishing a European Education Area by 2025, what are the goals and timelines in the field of university education?
