

Question for written answer E-003091/2023
to the Commission
Rule 138
Frances Fitzgerald (PPE)

Subject: Process for approving CE markings in the EU

While the fundamentals of the CE approval process in the EU are believed to be sound, the fragmented approach taken by individual Member States is leading to a less than optimal procedure, slowing EU competitiveness and innovation.

As such:

Has the Commission considered centralising this task at EU level or proposing a streamlined EU system?
