

Question for written answer E-003151/2023
to the Commission
Rule 138
Lars Patrick Berg (ECR)

Subject: Medicines shortage in Europe

There are reported shortages of vital medicines across Europe, and some reports suggest the situation will become critical over the course of the coming winter.

There are also reports that some Member States are banning exports of some medicines and are following a policy of stockpiling vital medicines.

Can the Commission confirm whether it anticipates shortages of certain critical medicines this winter? If so, what measures are being introduced to remedy the situation?

Submitted: 25.10.2023