of the Committee on Employment and Social Affairs

for the Committee on Budgets

on Guidelines for the 2022 Budget - Section III
(2020/2265(BUI))

On behalf of the Committee on Employment and Social Affairs: Lucia Ďuriš Nicholsonová (Chair)
AMENDMENTS

The Committee on Employment and Social Affairs presents the following amendments to the Committee on Budgets, as the committee responsible:

Amendment 1
Motion for resolution
Citation 8 a (new)

Motion for resolution

Amendment

– having regard to the European Pillar of Social Rights (EPSR), proclaimed by the European Council, the European Parliament and the European Commission in November 2017;

Amendment 2
Motion for resolution
Recital A (new)

Motion for resolution

Amendment

A. whereas the pandemic and the restrictive measures put in place in the attempt of containing it have had a severe effect on deteriorating living conditions in Europe and in exposing the financial fragility of many European households; whereas at the height of the Covid19 crisis in 2020, almost half of people living in Europe had difficulties making ends meet and 4 Europeans out of 10 expressed the feeling that their financial situation had worsened since the start of the pandemic; whereas 54% of respondents reported their inability to maintain their standard of living for more than three months without an income showing the utmost importance of social protection and of policy initiatives to smooth the economic and social impact of the crisis on European citizens;¹
Amendment 3
Motion for resolution
Recital B (new)

Motion for resolution

B. whereas due to the economic implications of the COVID-19 pandemic crisis, job insecurities, and fear of losing employment remains widespread and that the number of households under financial strain continues to be high; whereas 13% of self-employed respondents without personnel, and 8% of respondents who worked for an employer, became unemployed since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic;\(^2\) whereas respondents in the youngest age group (18-34), and those with primary or secondary education, were more likely to have become unemployed during the pandemic;\(^3\)

\(^3\) Eurofound (2020), Living, working and COVID-19, COVID-19 series, Publications Office of the European Union, Luxembourg

Amendment 4
Motion for resolution
Recital C (new)

Motion for resolution

C. whereas a high number of individuals have left employment into inactivity during the first phase of the COVID-19 crisis, which exceeds transitions into unemployment; whereas of those who worked before the outbreak of the pandemic and then lost their job, 4% of women became inactive against 1% of men; whereas special efforts will be required, as evidence shows, that re-integration from a status of inactivity is more difficult to achieve than from a status of unemployment;

Amendment 5
Motion for resolution
Recital D (new)

Motion for resolution

Amendment

D. whereas the immediate employment impact of the COVID-19 pandemic shows that workers with more precarious employment conditions such as workers on temporary contracts, in casual work, with multiple jobs or certain types of platform workers are more exposed to job loss; whereas these types of workers tend to be less covered by social protection and are found to have less access to public support; whereas in order to ensure medium- to long-term labour market integration to avoid inequalities and labour market segmentation, targeted measures addressing the transition from unemployment or inactivity of these workers need to be established and enforced to contribute to well-functioning and inclusive labour markets;⁴

Amendment 6
Motion for resolution
Recital E (new)

Motion for resolution

E. whereas the outbreak of the pandemic has shed light on the inherent link between fair and safe mobility; whereas numerous cross-border and seasonal workers are in a particularly vulnerable situation as regards their working conditions and occupational health and safety in the context of the COVID-19 crisis; whereas disturbing reports regarding breaches and lack of enforcement of cross-border and seasonal workers’ rights in terms of working and living conditions have surfaced during the crisis; whereas many cross-border and seasonal workers are essential to the provision of critical goods and services in key economic sectors such as agriculture and food production, transport, logistics, construction, social services including care, social work and tourism, but also food processing and packaging, fisheries, forestry, healthcare and research, the IT and pharmaceutical industries, critical infrastructure industries and other sectors, and are vital to any economic recovery effort;

Amendment 7
Motion for resolution
Recital F (new)

Motion for resolution

F. whereas the next years will undoubtedly be characterised by an economic and labour market crisis with high levels of unemployment and consistent labour shortages must not be neglected, in particular in sectors with traditional shortages aggravated due to the pandemic such as the health sector, but also newly emerging shortages, related to COVID-19 as well as the transition to the digital age and a climate neutral economy; whereas the green and digital transitions are a priority and consideration of fairness and ongoing learning priorities in light of these transitions should be included in support for short-time working, including the EU SURE initiative; whereas the take-up of training during ‘downtime’ associated with short-time working and temporary unemployment remains limited and the use downtime to enhance human capital remains linked to a lack of planning for training requirements, limited resources due to the crisis, the continued absence of suitable training offers, particularly in the sectors most impacted by the pandemic and difficulties in predicting the duration of downtime;

Amendment 8
Motion for resolution
Recital G (new)

G. whereas short-time schemes will be needed to be combined with activation policies for the recipients when emergency measures start to be lifted; whereas it will be important not to wean off the income support too early but at the same time, it is becoming clear that many jobs and companies have disappeared as a result of the crisis and therefore there should be appropriate active labour market policies to support for those that will have to move on to enable them to get good jobs; whereas such activation policies could end up forcing workers into precarious jobs without prospect and this practice should be avoided;

Amendment 9
Motion for resolution
Recital H (new)

Motion for resolution

Amendment

H. whereas the COVID-19 crisis and the unintended consequences of lockdown measures risk to jeopardise decades of gains achieved in gender equality with tangible risks of women disengaging from the labour market and of developments reinforcing gender roles; whereas due to the sectoral and occupational segregation, with women being overrepresented in low-paying jobs and part-time work and sectors highly hit by the COVID-19 pandemic, women are more at risk than other groups of suffering the employment and social fallout of the crisis; whereas this could bring to additional deterioration of the gender employment gap that costs more than €320 billion, or 2.4% of EU GDP, to Europe;\(^5\)

Amendment 10

Motion for resolution
Recital I (new)

Motion for resolution

Amendment

I. whereas with the closure of schools and people working from home, tangible is the risk of an exacerbation of the gender divides, with an escalation of work-life where mothers of small children often bear the brunt of the impact; whereas almost one-third of women with small children found it hard to concentrate on their work, as against one-sixth of men, while family responsibilities have prevented more women (24%) than men (13%) from giving the time they wanted to work; whereas policy initiatives to support women, their labour market participation and their economic independence, are urgent in these challenging times in order to preserve the gains achieved in gender equality in the last decades;

Amendment 11
Motion for resolution
Recital J (new)

Motion for resolution

J. whereas the pandemic is likely to have accelerated the trend to telework despite that this has not been an option for all workers; whereas 37% of dependent employment in the EU is currently teleworkable and teleworking is likely to become much more commonplace post-crisis based on the generally positive response of employees and employers to the COVID-19 teleworking experience; whereas increased telework has the potential to deepen labour market divides and those teleworking are more likely to report work-family conflicts, a blurring of boundaries between work and non-work life, feelings of anxiety, fatigue as well as headaches and eyestrain; whereas telework can also lead to extended working hours, shorter rest breaks between working days and intensification of work with implications for health and well-being; whereas policy measures need to be developed and the working conditions of teleworkers need to be monitored, for example through harmonised EU-wide surveys like the European Working Conditions Survey, and evidence needs to be collected on the effectiveness of current labour law regulations to protect the health and well-being of teleworkers and to address the potential for emerging inequalities;\textsuperscript{8}

Amendment 12
Motion for resolution
Recital K (new)

\textit{Motion for resolution}

\textit{Amendment}

K. whereas research shows the huge impact of the Covid-19 crisis on youth, their mental health, their employment perspectives and human capital accumulation; whereas young people, already the victim of 2008 crisis, are most impacted by reductions in employment levels and are also highly represented among furloughed workers following the covid-19 crisis; whereas the impact of the pandemic on education is also damaging young people’s opportunities to accumulate human capital and skills, whereas the decision to close schools and rapid move to teaching online exposed the different levels of readiness across countries and training centres with the risk of deepening inequalities between the most privileged and the most vulnerable; whereas restrictions on social gatherings and mobility had detrimental effects on mental health of young people; whereas in 2020 55\% of young people were at risk of depression and one out of five felt lonely and anxious, a much larger share than the rest of the population, whose traces of which remained visible even when societies and economies were reopened;

Amendment 13
Motion for resolution
Recital L (new)

Motion for resolution  Amendment

L. whereas the COVID-19 pandemic has a severe impact on all European countries, and there is a tangible risk that Member States will be impacted differently by the COVID-19 crisis depending on their economic structure and measures adopted to control it; whereas to avoid the surge of new divergence patterns in the social performance of the Member States, governments and the European Union have put in place a wide range of policy initiatives and recovery packages, such as the NextGenEU and the SURE initiative, in order to smoothen the economic and social hardship of the crisis; whereas effective social protection systems are crucial to prevent poverty, unemployment, and informality, act as a powerful economic and social stabilizer while stimulating aggregate demand;

Amendment 14
Motion for resolution
Recital M (new)

Motion for resolution  Amendment

M. whereas the EU and Member States have taken a wide range of actions in order to minimise the impact of the pandemic on businesses, workers and citizens; whereas the nature of the measures is changing and widening, for example with increased focus on the adaptation of workplaces and ways of working which require different approaches to managing and organising work; whereas instruments that gather and structure information on the approaches taken, such as Eurofound’s COVID-19 EU PolicyWatch database or the more structuring instruments captured in the European Restructuring Monitor support instruments database, are essential to monitor developments and provide evidence on their evaluation;

Amendment 15
Motion for resolution
Recital N (new)

Motion for resolution

N. whereas the 2022 budget must address the social and employment-related challenges resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as support workers and businesses in the move towards a more solidarity-based digital, greener and climate neutral economy; whereas in a time of unprecedented crisis the Commission’s key objectives for the budget 2022 should include helping to eradicate child poverty, supporting young people by giving them the education and opportunities they need to thrive, tackling unemployment and getting more women into the labour market;

Amendment 16
Motion for resolution
Recital O (new)
O. whereas social investment is about investing in people in order to improve their living conditions; whereas key policy areas for social investment include social security, healthcare, long-term care, education, housing, employment, justice and social services for disadvantaged groups; whereas well-designed social policies strongly contribute to sustainable development and growth as well as to protecting people from poverty and acting as economic stabilisers;

Amendment
Back on track: budget 2022 for recovery from the COVID-19 crisis and priorities to tackle the economic and social consequences of the pandemic and ensure just transition and social resilience

Amendment 18
Motion for resolution
Paragraph -1 (new)

Motion for resolution
-1. Stresses that the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic is of an unprecedented scope, extent, and magnitude, affecting the health and socioeconomic situation of millions of people in Europe, leading to an unprecedented crisis with disastrous consequences for people and their families, workers, and businesses; highlights in this context that 2022 will continue to be a critical year and therefore requires an unprecedented response and a social and sustainable budget that leaves no one behind including atypical households such as LGBTQ+ families or single parent families, elderly, migrants and refugees, Roma people, children and youth, the most deprived and other disadvantaged groups;

Amendment 19

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 1

Motion for a resolution

1. Believes that, given the particular uncertainty about the economic outlook, which is not expected to recover to its pre-pandemic level in 2022, and the imperative need for a quick recovery from the economic and social damage caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, the 2022 Union budget should play an even more pivotal role in ensuring a positive and tangible impact on citizens’ lives and contributing to sustaining the European economy, leveraging investments and supporting job creation throughout the Union, as well as facilitating the reduction of economic, social, territorial and generational disparities;

Amendment 20

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 1 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

1a. Stresses in particular that the recovery efforts should bring quality employment opportunities that fit in the context of Europe’s digital transformation and European Green Deal and sustainable development in a climate neutral economy, and be complemented by a strong social dimension, addressing social and economic inequalities and the needs of those hardest hit by the crisis, particularly current and potentially vulnerable and disadvantaged groups;

Amendment 21

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 1 b (new)

1b. Highlights, therefore, that the 2022 Union budget should have a strong social dimension, boosting sustainable growth, cohesion and upward social convergence, and promoting an economic governance; considers, furthermore, that it must play a pivotal role in ensuring a positive and tangible impact on citizens’ lives and their socio-economic well-being and in contributing to sustaining the European economy, leveraging investments and supporting job retention and quality job creation throughout the Union, as well as in facilitating the reduction of economic, social, territorial, intersectional and generational inequalities; stresses that the full impact of the crisis is yet to come, especially given the risk of rising unemployment, and it is essential therefore that safety nets are able to maintain their capacity to deliver in 2022;

Amendment 22

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 2

2. Intends, therefore, to set up a forward-looking budget that will be instrumental in the recovery process, and will enable the Union to boost investments

2. Stresses the need, therefore, to establish an ambitious and forward-looking sustainable budget for 2022 that will be instrumental in the recovery and and tackle unemployment, foster the digital and green transitions, improve the life prospects of the young generation and address demographic challenges, and ensure a safe and prosperous environment for EU citizens; considers these priorities to be essential in order to uphold the recovery and build up the foundations for a more resilient Union;

Amendment 23
Motion for resolution
Paragraph 2 a (new)

Motion for resolution

2a. Stresses, in this regard, that the agreement reached at the July Council is significant, both for giving Member States the right instrument to react to this unprecedented situation and to avert the crisis from hurtling towards a new asymmetric shock and highlights in this regard the need to effectively identify and support those who are in need and lack both the formal and informal support to cushion the impacts of the economic difficulties;
Amendment 24
Motion for resolution
Paragraph 2 b (new)

Motion for resolution

2b. Stresses the importance of the partnership principle, in order to ensure the involvement of social partners in the planning, implementation and monitoring of projects financed by the European Structural and Investment Funds (ESIF); considers it necessary that the partnership principle is included in the ESIFs, as well as in other relevant EU funds, including the Recovery and Resilience Facility (RFF), REACT EU; calls on all the Member States to invest at least 0.25% of ESF+ resources under shared management in each programme for the capacity building of social partners and civil society organisations, including in the form of training, networking measures, and strengthening of the social dialogue, and to activities jointly undertaken by the social partners in the delivery of employment, education and social inclusion policies;

Amendment 25
Motion for resolution
Paragraph 2 c (new)

Motion for resolution

2c. Stresses that, before the COVID-19 pandemic, more than 100 million Europeans were struggling with poverty and material deprivation on a daily basis and that the situation will deteriorate further as a result of the pandemic; recognises the crucial role of all European funds and programmes in the social area, in particular the European Social Fund + (ESF+), the Youth Employment Initiative (YEI), the European Globalisation Adjustment Fund (EGF), the Programme for Employment and Social Innovation (EaSI), the Fund for European Aid to the Most Deprived (FEAD), ReactEU, Recovery and Resiliency Facility (RRF), etc. will play in the next years’ recovery; insists therefore that all programmes in the social area and in particular the ESF+, and the FEAD, are adequately financed to overcome rising unemployment and poverty in Europe;

Amendment 26
Motion for resolution
Paragraph 2 d (new)

Motion for resolution

Amendment

2d. Recalls that ESF+ will be the main financial post-COVID-19 recovery instrument and an instrument to strengthen Europe’s social dimension by putting the principles of the European Pillar of Social Rights into practice; believes that any decrease of the ESF+ budget risks endangering effective recovery and implementation of its key objectives, in particular, tackling long-term unemployment and unemployment among young people and the elderly, child poverty, the risk of poverty and social exclusion, discrimination, to ensure a reinforced social dialogue, addressing long-term structural demographic change and guarantee access for all, and especially for ageing populations, to vital and key services such as healthcare, social protection, mobility, adequate nutrition, and decent housing;

Amendment 27
Motion for resolution
Paragraph 2 e (new)

Motion for resolution

Amendment

2e. Notes the introduction of temporary measures under the ESF+ in response to exceptional circumstances; reiterates the necessity of preserving the thematic concentration obligations at all times, including in the event of exceptional obligations that would put at risk key objectives and investments of ESF+, as well as the good use and effectiveness of the investments made by the ESF+, as, in the event of exceptional circumstances, the Commission may adopt implementing acts extending the scope of the ESF+ itself, as well as reducing the thematic concentration obligations; calls therefore on the Member States to prioritise and utilise all available resources under the Recovery package in the final year of its availability as the ESF+ is not designed to be an emergency instrument and will remain the main European instrument to deliver on the principles of the European Pillar of Social Rights;

Amendment 28
Motion for resolution
Paragraph 2 f (new)

Motion for resolution

2f. Believes that short-time working schemes have to be reinforced and complemented by massive investments in active labour market policies, to avoid increases of structural unemployment, especially among young and 55+ workers; for that purposes stresses the importance of developing a common approach to active labour market policies, building on the experience of SURE and designing permanent EU reinsurance mechanisms of government’s expenditure on employment, social protection, and unemployment benefits; furthermore acknowledges, that the Commission has committed to introducing a permanent instrument in the form of a European Unemployment Reinsurance Scheme and calls, in this regard, on the Commission to introduce the European Unemployment Reinsurance Scheme without further delay;

Amendment 29
Motion for resolution
Paragraph 2 g (new)

2g. Insists that Union support to short-time work schemes should be conditional on maintaining the same level of working and employment conditions and rights, including protection against dismissals and reduction of wages, and recipients of Union support should by no means pay bonuses to managers or dividend to shareholders, should not be based in tax havens, or subvert collective bargaining, workers’ participation or codetermination in company decision making processes;
