

ORAL QUESTION H-0789/00
for Question Time at the part-session in November 2000 pursuant to Rule 43 of the Rules of Procedure
by The Lord Bethell
to the Commission

Subject: Delays at the frontier between Spain and Gibraltar

Is the Commission aware that, in spite of recent agreements between Britain and Spain on the Gibraltar question, there are still long delays in the movement of vehicular traffic between Spain and Gibraltar? Does it accept that these delays are artificial and that they are imposed for political reasons? Does it agree that the imposition of delays by Spain is a violation of the appropriate paragraphs of the Treaty on European Union? What is it going to do about it?
