

ORAL QUESTION H-0888/01
for Question Time at the part-session in December 2001 pursuant to Rule 43 of the Rules of Procedure
by John McCartin
to the Commission

Subject: Nice Treaty information campaign

Can the Commission state whether it received a threat of legal proceedings from a Member of the European Parliament or other party, in relation to the conduct of its information campaign on the Nice Treaty, and can the Commission state if this threat of legal proceedings affected in any way their information policy? Did the European Commission feel constrained in any way in their information policy by the so-called 'McKenna' Judgment of the Irish High Court, and has the Commission taken any legal advice on this matter?
