

ORAL QUESTION H-0302/08
for Question Time at the part-session in May 2008
pursuant to Rule 109 of the Rules of Procedure
by Leopold Józef Rutowicz
to the Council

Subject: Greenhouse effect

Does the Council have any plans to study the phenomenon of the greenhouse effect?

At present, carbon dioxide emissions and the major risk of global warming they entail are matters of concern to public opinion. Tackling this phenomenon is one of the European Union's priorities. Unfortunately, it has not been the subject of sufficient research and doubts remain among many scientists and many states.

Will the Council consider undertaking more rigorous and detailed scientific analysis and research into this matter?
