Amendment

(6) The decision-making bodies of the European standardisation organisations are open to participation not only by national standardisation bodies, but also by national standardisation organisations of acceding countries, candidate countries and potential candidates to the Union, among others. In order to avoid excluding those organisations from participation in the work of decision-making bodies concerned, it is only necessary to provide that the decisions in those bodies concerning European standards and European standardisation deliverables requested under Article 10(1) of Regulation (EU) No 1025/2012 be taken exclusively by representatives of national standardisation bodies, without imposing any other requirements on the work of the decision-making bodies of the European standardisation organisations.

European standardisation benefits from the involvement of national standardisation organisations from European non-EEA countries. These organisations are fully committed to the principles of European standardisation, including the national delegation and the representation of all concerned stakeholders in the process of developing standards, as enshrined in Regulation 1025/2012. In order to preserve the strengths of the public-private-partnership - framed by Regulation 1025/2012 - and deliver a robust, resilient and efficient system, when supporting EU policies and legislations, representatives of national standardisation organisations from European non-EEA countries should continue to participate in all aspects of the development of European standards including voting on standardisation requests from the European Commission and standards linked to such requests. However, such involvement should not amount to impeding the adoption of any decision concerning European standards and European standardisation deliverables supported by the majority of national standardisation bodies from Member States of the Union and, where applicable, other countries participating in the EEA, as specified in the Rapporteur's addition to Art. 10, paragraph 2.

Article 10 – paragraph 2a a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

2a a. National standardisation bodies from third countries that are not members of the European Economic Area (EEA), may be involved in the work of decision-making bodies of the European standardisation organisations. However, such involvement shall not amount to impeding the adoption of any decision concerning European standards and European standardisation deliverables supported by the majority of national standardisation bodies from Member States of the Union and, where applicable, other members of EEA that are notified as national standardisation bodies in accordance with this Regulation.
