Proposal for a directive
Recital 6

Text proposed by the Commission

(6) Annual financial statements should give a true and fair view of an undertaking's assets and liabilities, financial position and profit or loss. To this end a mandatory layout should be prescribed for the balance sheet and the profit and loss account and the minimum content of the notes to the financial statements and the management report should be laid down. According to the 'think-small-first' principle the mandatory requirements for small undertakings should be fully harmonised in legislation. In order to avoid disproportionate burdens on these entities, Member States should not be entitled to require the presentation of further information. Member States may however impose further requirements on medium-sized and large undertakings..

Amendment

(6) Annual financial statements should give a true and fair view of an undertaking's assets and liabilities, financial position and profit or loss. The true and fair view is the minimum standard of presenting the accounts in order to discharge the duties of the directors to the company, which includes that the company is capable of being a going concern by virtue of the net assets on its balance sheet being sufficient to support the creditor interest¹. That test requires that assets are not stated at above their realisable amounts and that prospective liabilities and prospective contingent liabilities are included. Also a mandatory layout should be prescribed for the balance sheet and the profit and loss account and the minimum content of the notes to the financial statements and the management report should be laid down. According to the 'think-small-first' principle the mandatory requirements for small undertakings should be fully harmonised in legislation. In order to avoid disproportionate burdens on these entities, Member States should not be entitled to require the presentation of further information. Member States may however impose further requirements on medium-sized and large undertakings.

¹*European Court of Justice, judgment of 27 June 1996 in Case C-234/64, Tomberger v Gebrüder von der Wettern (ECR 1996, p. I-03133); and judgment of 14 September 1999 in Case C-275/97, DE + ES Bauunternehmung (ECR 1999, p. I-* 05331). Also see Article 15 of the Second Company Law Directive 77/91/EEC of 13 December 1976 on coordination of safeguards which, for the protection of the interests of members and others, are required by Member States of companies within the meaning of the second paragraph of Article 58 of the Treaty in respect of the formation of public limited liability companies and the maintenance and alteration of their capital , with a view to making such safeguards equivalent (OJ L 26, 31.1.1977, p. 1), which also sets a net assets test for determining whether a dividend can be paid.

Or. en

Justification

Clarification is required with regard to what the true and fair view means in law as there has been confusion introduced in various places that are inconsistent with its current meaning in law. These inconsistencies are then superfluous to the true and fair view requirement and frustrate the functional requirements of accounts dependent on it. The Commission wrongly assuming that true and fair view is a product of following standards when it is actually a fundamental standard in its own right.

Amendment 102 Alexandra Thein

Proposal for a directive Recital 27

Text proposed by the Commission

(27) The Member States are strongly encouraged to develop electronic publication systems that allow undertakings to file accounting data, including statutory financial statements, only once and in a form that allows multiple users to access and use the data easily. Such systems should, however, not be burdensome to small and medium-sized undertakings.

Amendment

(27) A harmonised electronic format for reporting would be very beneficial for undertakings established in the Union, since it would facilitate the creation of a one-stop-shop reporting system which could also be used in other fields. The preparation of financial statements in eXtensible Business Reporting Language (XBRL) should therefore be compulsory with effect from 1 January 2018, following a suitable period for preparation and testing. Establishing such a system should, however, not be burdensome to small and medium-sized undertakings.

Amendment 103
Syed Kamall

Proposal for a directive
Recital 31

Text proposed by the Commission

(31) The annual financial statements and consolidated financial statements should be audited. The requirement that an audit opinion should state whether the annual or consolidated financial statements give a true and fair view in accordance with the relevant financial reporting framework does not represent a restriction of the scope of that opinion but clarifies the context in which it is expressed. The annual financial statements of small undertakings should not be covered by this audit obligation, as audit can be a significant administrative burden for this category of undertaking, whilst for many small undertakings the same persons are both shareholders and management and therefore have limited need for third party assurance on the financial statements.

Amendment

(31) The annual financial statements and consolidated financial statements should be audited. The requirement that an audit opinion should state whether the annual or consolidated financial statements give a true and fair view. The annual financial statements of small undertakings should not be covered by this audit obligation, as audit can be a significant administrative burden for this category of undertaking, whilst for many small undertakings the same persons are both shareholders and management and therefore have limited need for third party assurance on the financial statements.

Or. en

Justification

The true and fair view is an objective in its own right, as reflected in recital 6 and not the product of following something else, which the deleted text implies. The accounting directives and IFRS as reporting frameworks must both be in accordance with the true and fair view principle, not the other way round.

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(13a) Capital shall be defined with regard to the rules on capital maintenance and limitations to profit distribution as laid down in the Second Council Directive 77/91/EEC of 13 December 1976 on coordination of safeguards which, for the protection of the interests of members and others, are required by Member States of companies within the meaning of the second paragraph of Article 54 of the Treaty, in respect of the formation of the public limited liability companies and the maintenance and alteration of their capital, with the view to making such safeguards equivalent¹.

Or. xm

Justification

The term ‘capital and reserves’ is used in the Directive without being properly defined. It should therefore also be geared to the term ‘capital and reserves’ of company law, based on Directive 77/91/EEC of 13 December 1976 and adapted to capital maintenance and creditor protection.

Member States may require undertakings to include other statements in the annual financial statements in addition to the documents referred to in the first subparagraph.

Alternative measurement basis of fair value

1. By way of derogation from Article 5(1)(i) and subject to the conditions set out in this Article:

(a) Member States shall permit or require in respect of all undertakings or any classes of undertaking measurement of financial instruments, including derivative financial instruments, at fair value.

(b) Member States may permit or require in respect of all undertakings or any classes of undertaking measurement of specified categories of assets other than financial instruments at amounts determined by reference to fair value.

Such permission or requirement may be restricted to consolidated financial statements.

2. For the purpose of this Directive, commodity-based contracts that give either contracting party the right to settle in cash or some other financial instrument shall be considered to be derivative financial instruments, except when the following conditions are complied with:

(a) they were entered into and continue to meet the undertaking's expected purchase, sale or usage requirements;

(b) they were designated as commodity-based contracts at their inception;

(c) they are expected to be settled by delivery of the commodity.

3. Paragraph 1(a) shall apply only to the following liabilities:

(a) liabilities held as part of a trading portfolio;

(b) derivative financial instruments.

4. Measurement according to paragraph 1(a) shall not apply to the following:

(a) non-derivative financial instruments held to maturity;

(b) loans and receivables originated by the undertaking and not held for trading purposes;

(c) interests in subsidiaries, associated undertakings and joint ventures, equity instruments issued by the undertaking, contracts for contingent consideration in a business combination as well as other financial instruments with such special characteristics that the instruments, according to what is generally accepted, shall be accounted for differently from other financial instruments.

5. By way of derogation from Article 5(1)(i), Member States may in respect of any assets and liabilities which qualify as hedged items under a fair value hedge accounting system, or identified portions of such assets or liabilities, permit measurement at the specific amount required under that system.

6. By way of derogation from paragraphs 3 and 4 of this Article, Member States may permit or require the recognition, measurement and disclosure of financial instruments in conformity with international accounting standards adopted in accordance with Regulation (EC) No 1606/2002.

7. The fair value within the meaning of this Article shall be determined by reference to one of the following values:

(a) a market value, for those financial instruments for which a reliable market can readily be identified. Where a market value is not readily identifiable for an instrument but can be identified for its components or for a similar instrument, the market value may be derived from that of its components or of the similar instrument;

(b) a value resulting from generally accepted valuation models and techniques, for those instruments for which a reliable market cannot be readily identified. Such valuation models and techniques shall ensure a reasonable approximation of the market value.

Financial instruments that cannot be measured reliably by any of the methods described in points (a) and (b), shall be measured in accordance with the principle of purchase price or production cost.

8. Notwithstanding Article 5(1)(c), where a financial instrument is measured at fair value, a change in value shall be included in the profit and loss account. However, such a change shall be included directly in a fair value reserve, where:

(a) the instrument accounted for is a hedging instrument under a system of hedge accounting that allows some or all of the change in value not to be shown in the profit and loss account; or

(b) the change in value relates to an exchange difference arising on a monetary item that forms part of an undertaking's net investment in a foreign entity.

Member States may permit or require a change in the value of an available for sale financial asset, other than a derivative financial instrument, to be included directly in the fair value reserve. The fair value reserve shall be adjusted when amounts shown therein are no longer necessary for the implementation of points (a) and (b).

9. Notwithstanding Article 5(1)(c), Member States may permit or require in respect of all undertakings or any classes of undertaking that, where assets other than financial instruments are measured at fair value, a change in the value shall be included in the profit and loss account.

5. By way of derogation from Article 5(1)(i), Member States may in respect of any assets and liabilities which qualify as hedged items under a fair value hedge accounting system, or identified portions of such assets or liabilities, permit measurement at the specific amount required under that system.

Amendment

5. By way of derogation from Article 5(1)(i), Member States may in respect of any assets and liabilities which qualify as hedged items under a fair value hedge accounting system, or identified portions of such assets or liabilities, permit measurement at the specific amount required under that system, subject to that being consistent with the true and fair view principle.

Or. en

Justification

Given that the true and fair view is the minimum standard to discharge the duties of the directors in matters of going concern and the lawfulness of distributions some aspects of fair value accounting may be contrary to that. The ECJ has held that the requirements of the accounting directive can only be applied in a way that is consistent with the true and fair view principle, rather than the other way round.

6. By way of derogation from paragraphs 3 and 4 of this Article, Member States may permit or require the recognition, measurement and disclosure of financial instruments in conformity with international accounting standards adopted in accordance with Regulation (EC) No 1606/2002, subject to that being consistent with the true and fair view principle.

Or. en

Justification

Clarification is required with regard to what the true and fair view means in law as there has been confusion introduced in various places that are inconsistent with its current meaning in law. These inconsistencies are then superfluous to the true and fair view requirement and frustrate the functional requirements of accounts dependent on it. The Commission wrongly assuming that true and fair view is a product of following standards when it is actually a fundamental standard in its own right.
