

WRITTEN QUESTION P-1663/00
by Jas Gawronski (PPE-DE)
to the Commission

Subject: Information campaign on enlargement of the Union

Many official statements by Members of the Commission indicate that one of the most serious threats to enlargement of the Union comes from public opinion in the Member States and candidate countries concerning this change.

If the fear of enlargement is so great, why has the Commission decided to allocate only EUR 150 million to an information campaign for 28 countries over seven years (EUR 765 306 a year per country)?
