

WRITTEN QUESTION P-0341/04
by Philip Claeys (NI)
to the Commission

Subject: Introduction of a 'Made in the EU' label

According to reports, the Commission is contemplating the idea of introducing a 'Made in the EU' label.

Is this information correct? If so, when will a concrete proposal be issued?

What added value does a European label give over and above the Member States' national labels?

Have representatives of industry already been consulted on this? If so, what were their reactions?

Will it be possible to combine the European label with a national label?
