

WRITTEN QUESTION P-0178/05
by Béatrice Patrie (PSE)
to the Commission

Subject: Special European Action Plan to save the sturgeon

Despite being classified as a priority species, the European sturgeon is currently on the verge of extinction. The two LIFE-Nature programmes dedicated to its conservation have not been able to halt its decline.

Following the work carried out by the Council of Europe and the European Union, how does the European Commission intend to proceed in order to respond to the tragic situation in which this priority species finds itself?