to the Commission

Rule 138

Kira Marie Peter-Hansen (Verts/ALE)

Subject: Phasing out of petrol and diesel cars

In a previous answer (E-002469/2019(ASW)) to the question as to why Denmark should not phase out petrol and diesel cars, the Commission replied that it would welcome a policy debate on coordinated European action on phasing them out.

The recently concluded interinstitutional agreement on the revision of the EU's CO₂ standards for cars and goods vehicles includes phasing-out of petrol and diesel cars.

Will it be possible for Denmark to phase out petrol and diesel cars as early as 2025?
