ENF:
amendment 39CP (recital 7)
First part 'The principle of equal treatment and the prohibition of any discrimination based on nationality have been enshrined in Union law since the founding Treaties. The principle of equal pay has been implemented through secondary law not only between women and men, but also between employees with fixed term contracts and comparable permanent workers, between part-time and full-time workers and between temporary agency workers and comparable workers of the user undertaking.' "
Second part 'These principles include the prohibition of any measures which directly or indirectly discriminate on grounds of nationality. While applying those principles, the relevant case-law of the Court of Justice of the European Union is to be taken into consideration.'

amendment 39CP (recital 10)

First part 'Posting is of a temporary nature and the posted worker usually returns to the country of origin after the completion of the work for which he has been posted.'

Second part 'However, in view of the long duration of certain postings, and in acknowledgment of the link between the labour market of the host country and the workers posted for such long periods, it is necessary to provide that, in case of posting lasting for periods longer than 12 months, host countries should ensure that undertakings posting workers to their territory guarantee an additional set of terms and conditions that are mandatorily applicable to workers in the Member State where the work is carried out. That period should be extended upon motivated notification by the service provider.'

First part 'When comparing the remuneration paid to the posted worker and the remuneration due in accordance with the laws and/or practices of the Member State to which territory the worker is posted, the gross amount of remuneration should be taken into account. The total gross amounts of remuneration should be compared, rather than individual elements of remuneration rendered mandatory as provided for in Article 3(1).'

Second part 'In order to ensure transparency and assist the competent authorities when carrying out checks and controls, it is nevertheless necessary that the elements, which are part of the remuneration, can be identified in enough detail according to national law and practice of the sending Member State. As provided for in Article 3(7) of Directive 96/71/EC, allowances specific to the posting should be considered to be part of the remuneration. Such allowances should therefore be taken into account for the comparison, unless they concern expenditure actually incurred on account of the posting, such as expenditure on travel, board and lodging.'

First part 'The elements of remuneration and other terms and conditions of employment under national law or collective agreements as referred to in Article 3 (8) should be clear and transparent to all service providers and posted workers. In addition to the requirements under Article 5 of Directive 2014/67/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council, it is therefore justified to impose on Member States the obligation to publish the constituent elements of remuneration, and the additional set of terms and conditions in accordance with Article 3 (1a), on the single website provided for by Article 5 of Directive 2014/67/EU as transparency and access to information is essential for legal certainty and law enforcement. Each Member State should ensure that its website contains accurate information and is updated on a regular basis.'

Second part 'Any sanctions to a service provider for non-compliance with the terms and conditions of employment to be ensured to posted workers should be determined in a proportionate manner, taking into account, in particular, whether the information on the single national website on the terms and conditions of employment is provided in conformity with Article 5 of Directive 2014/67/EU, respecting the autonomy of the social partners.'

First part 'Directive 2008/104/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council on temporary agency work gives expression to the principle that the basic working and employment conditions applicable to temporary agency workers should be at least those which would apply to such workers if they were recruited by the user undertaking to occupy the same job. That principle should also apply to temporary agency workers posted to another Member State. Where that principle applies, the user undertaking should inform the temporary-work agency about the working conditions and remuneration it applies to its workers. Member States can under certain conditions provide for exceptions from the equal treatment/equal pay principle pursuant to Art. 5(2) and Art. 5(3) of the temporary agency work directive. When such an exception applies, the temporary work agency has no need for the information about the user undertaking's working conditions and the information requirement should therefore not apply. Experience shows that workers that have been hired out by a temporary agency to a user undertaking are sometimes sent to another Member State in the context of the provision of services. The protection of those workers should be ensured.

Second part 'Member States should ensure that the user undertaking informs the temporary work agency about the posted workers that are temporarily working in a Member State other than the Member State to which they have been posted, in order to allow the employer to apply, as appropriate, the terms and conditions of employment that are more favourable to the posted worker.'
