Recital O

First part

‘whereas double criminality is a concept of international extradition and, although scarcely compatible with mutual recognition, in practice it may be needed in a very limited way for requested persons in accordance with CJEU case law; whereas double criminality is only an optional ground for refusal of the EAW and is rarely invoked by executing authorities; whereas the list of offences without double criminality already includes a broad array of offences, many of which have not yet been very well harmonised in the Member States;’

Second part

‘and whereas such a list should be reassessed and possibly broadened in accordance with the procedure laid down in Article 2(3) of Framework Decision 2002/584/JHA;’

ECR

Recital I

First part

‘whereas the establishment of the EU mechanism on democracy, the rule of law and fundamental rights should be instrumental for the purpose of strengthening mutual trust as it is intended to point out areas where improvement is required as regards the rule of law;’

Second part

‘whereas the inadequate and inconsistent implementation of Framework Decision 2002/584/JHA by some Member States is not helping to reinforce this mutual trust; whereas an EU mechanism on democracy, the rule of law and fundamental rights may be useful to provide elements to ensure a consistent application where executions have been rejected on the basis of a breach of fundamental rights and therefore enhance mutual recognition between the Member State;’

Recital S

First part

‘whereas the 2009 EU roadmap for strengthening criminal procedural rights recognises the issue of periods of pre-trial detention; whereas prison conditions are an issue in many Member States and have to be in compliance with the values enshrined in Article 2 of the TEU;’

Second part

‘whereas there are rule of law issues in some Member States, as reflected by ECHR judgments;’

Second part those words

PPE, ECR:

§ 32

First part ‘Notes that although implementation of the procedures provided for in Article 7(1) of the TEU has an impact on mutual recognition, in accordance with the existing CJEU case law, the executing authority must assess in each specific case whether there are substantial grounds for believing that, following surrender, the person will run the risk of having their fundamental rights contravened; underlines that the triggering of Article 7(1) and (2) of the TEU does not amount to automatic non-recognition in view of the importance of cooperation in criminal matters and the functioning of the whole EU judicial cooperation system; highlights the role of Eurojust in assisting Member States when issuing or executing orders in this context, with a view to enhancing confidence and mutual trust;’

Second part ‘recommends, therefore, the introduction of a system of precautionary measures, including the suspension of the instrument, to underpin the guarantees provided, while enhancing confidence and mutual recognition between Member States;’

First part

‘Points to the clear risks involved in decisions made by humans if they rely solely on the data, profiles and recommendations generated by machines; points out that the overall design of AI systems should also include guidelines on human supervision and oversight; calls for an obligation to be imposed regarding transparency and explainability of AI applications and the necessity of human intervention, as well as other measures;’

Second part

‘such as independent audits and specific stress tests to facilitate and enforce compliance; stresses that such audits should be conducted periodically by an independent authority that would supervise high-risk AI applications used by state authorities or the military;’

§ 28

First part

‘Notes, moreover, that autonomous weapons systems, as a particular category of AI in the military domain, should be discussed and agreed internationally, specifically in the UN Convention on Certain Conventional Weapons forum; draws attention to the ongoing international debate on LAWS to regulate emerging military technologies, which has so far failed reach agreement; points out that the EU has only recently agreed to discuss the effects of AI developments and digitalisation on the defence sector;’

Second part

‘believes that the EU can play a crucial role in helping Member States to harmonise their approach to military AI, in order to lead international discussions;’

§ 11

First part

‘Acknowledges the work carried out by the European Commission and its respect for the principle of subsidiarity;’

Second part

‘highlights the crucial role of national parliaments, and, where relevant, regional parliaments, in the pre-legislative scrutiny of draft EU laws; notes that current forms of cooperation with national parliaments could be improved; regrets the current structure of the procedure for the subsidiarity control mechanism, which compels EU committees in national parliaments to dedicate excessive time to technical and legal assessments while having to comply with short deadlines; suggests a revision of these mechanisms in order to make them more functional and effective, and to allow for the development of a more political approach to subsidiarity control across the EU;’

Third part

‘suggests further involvement of the European Committee of the Regions, representing regional and local authorities, in subsidiarity control;’

First part Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘in third countries in which illegal mass migration originates’

Second part those words

The Left:

First part Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘calls for enhanced cooperation and coordination between the EU and NATO, pooling knowledge and resources and avoiding duplication, in order to build a common complementary approach to current and future regional and global security challenges as well as to conflict situations, health crises, asymmetric and hybrid threats, cyberattacks and disinformation;’

Second part those words

§ 41

First part

‘Believes that this partnership can only prosper if it is based on relations of shared values and interests and respect for international law and multilateral institutions, but also trust, which has, unfortunately, in recent years been adversely affected by excessive unilateral actions which have also weakened the multilateral frameworks of which the EU and its Member States are part; deplors, in this respect, the unilateralist tendencies of the administration of US President Donald Trump; highlights that weaker Western ties enable illiberal states to fill the leadership void on the international scene; expresses its hope that the US will reverse the path it has followed in recent years of withdrawing from the multilateral global rules-based order,’

Second part

‘enabling the resumption of close unity in transatlantic action that is fully aligned with the values and principles shared by the EU and the US; reiterates the need for European NATO member countries to take on more burden-sharing responsibilities in protecting the transatlantic space and respond to new hybrid threats; underlines that joining forces with US in peacebuilding endeavours in the future would bring more synergy and allow for a better response to global challenges;’

§ 63

First part

Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘and uncontrolled migration flows’

Second part

those words

ECR

First part

‘Supports an EU-wide debate to consider new formats of cooperation such as a European Security Council, as it is high time to formally establish the effective formats and institutions to improve the coherence and influence of the EU’s foreign and security policy; believes that this idea should be discussed in the framework of the Conference on the Future of Europe,’

Second part

‘and also reiterates its call for the establishment of a Defence Ministers Council;’

§ 57

First part Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘and tasks as laid down in the Treaties, towards a fully-fledged defence union’ and ‘working towards EU strategic autonomy’

Second part those words

PPE:

§ 31

First part ‘Takes note of the report of the UN Group of Eminent International and Regional Experts on Yemen that established that the Government of Yemen, the Houthis, the Southern Transitional Council and members of the coalition led by Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates, have committed grave violations of international human rights and international humanitarian law, which qualify as war crimes, such as indiscriminate attacks on civilians and civilian structures; calls on the EU and its Member States to ensure that there is no impunity for the most serious crimes by, inter alia, supporting the referral of the situation in Yemen to the International Criminal Court;’

Second part ‘calls on the EU and its Member States to introduce targeted sanctions against officials in Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates that have been involved in alleged war crimes; reiterates, once again, its call on Member States to stop arms sales to Saudi Arabia and the UAE, which only make them complicit in perpetuating the conflict and prolonging the suffering of the Yemeni people;’

First part Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘uncontrolled migration flows,’ and ‘develop its strategic autonomy while’

Second part ‘uncontrolled migration flows,’

Third part ‘develop its strategic autonomy while’

§ 14

First part

‘Expresses major concern over deforestation, illegal mining and the production of illicit drugs, in particular in the Amazon in 2019, given that forests contribute to mitigating climate change by absorbing and storing carbon dioxide; stresses that indigenous peoples have often been the first victims of deforestation, which endangers their rights to land, among other rights, and access to vital resources; underlines, in this regard, the right to determine and establish priorities and strategies for their self-development and for the use of their lands, territories and other resources; stresses that impunity for violations of the rights of indigenous peoples is a driving force in deforestation and therefore deems accountability for these violations to be essential; notes that the unlawful exploitation of natural resources may result in severe adverse impacts on the social, economic, cultural, civil and political rights of local communities,’

Second part

‘including the fundamental right of peoples to self-determination and the principle of permanent sovereignty over their natural resources;’

§ 42

First part

‘Calls for the EU to take particular care to assess and prevent any violation linked to the Union’s own policies, projects and funding in third countries;’

Second part

‘including by creating a complaints mechanism for individuals or groups whose rights may have been violated by EU activities in these countries;’

§ 124

First part

‘Calls for the setting up of an EU mandatory human rights and environmental due diligence instrument that requires companies to engage actively in the identification, assessment, mitigation, prevention and notification of any adverse impacts of their businesses and supply chains on human rights, applicable to corporate bodies, business leaders and executives in the event of a breach and providing victims with access to justice and remedy; welcomes the announcement that the Commission proposal will include a liability regime;’

Second part

‘calls on the Commission to consider exploring the possibility of incorporating further liabilities, including criminal liability, for the most severe violations;’

MEPs:

- First part* ‘Calls on the Commission and the Member States to make ensure that the right to adequate housing is recognised and enforceable as a fundamental human right through applicable European and national legislative provisions;’
- Second part* ‘calls on the Commission and the Member States to ensure equal access for all to decent housing, including clean and high-quality drinking water, adequate and equitable sanitation and hygiene, connection to sewage and water networks, a high quality indoor environment and to affordable, reliable, sustainable energy for all, thereby contributing to eradicating poverty in all its forms, protecting the human rights of disadvantaged households and supporting the most vulnerable groups, so as to protect their health and well-being;’
- First part* Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘condemns the circumvention of the moratorium by not connecting heating in the autumn, which therefore renders the moratorium ineffective’
- Second part* those words
- First part* ‘Welcomes the Commission’s support in the Renovation Wave to financing solutions for low-income households; welcomes the model of housing cost neutrality (including rent, energy and operating costs, and local taxes),’
- Second part* ‘since it combines social and climate goals, and prevents ‘renovictions’(evictions on the grounds that a building needs large-scale renovation), ensuring that rent increases are fully balanced by energy-savings; stresses the need to protect tenants from eviction during housing renovations;’
- § 8
- First part* Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘calls on the Member States to prioritise renovation in their recovery and resilience plans in order to contribute to achieving deep renovation of at least 3 % of the European building stock per year;’
- Second part* those words
- § 29
- First part* ‘Warns that in order for any eviction to comply with international human rights law, a number of criteria must be met, including meaningful engagement with those affected, exploration of all viable alternatives, relocation to adequate housing with the agreement of the households affected, so that no one is rendered homeless, as well as access to justice to ensure procedural fairness, and compliance with all human rights; calls on the Commission and the Member States to ensure that where these criteria are not met, evictions are deemed to have been forced, and to constitute a violation of the right to housing; demands that forced evictions as defined under international human rights law are prohibited in all circumstances,’
- Second part* ‘regardless of ownership or tenure status of those affected, and that victims of forced evictions receive adequate compensation, reparation and access to housing or productive land as appropriate;’
- § 34
- First part* Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘urges the Commission to ensure that all country-specific recommendations contribute positively to the full and consistent implementation of the principles of the EPSR, to the achievement of the UN SDGs, and the EU climate goals defined in the Green Deal;’ and ‘financialisation,’

Second part	‘urges the Commission to ensure that all country-specific recommendations contribute positively to the full and consistent implementation of the principles of the EPSR, to the achievement of the UN SDGs, and the EU climate goals defined in the Green Deal;’
Third part	‘financialisation,’
§ 40
First part	Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘security of tenure by favouring long-term rental contracts as the default option, together with’ and ‘rent control measures, to correct rent where needed to facilitate affordable housing for all’
Second part	those words
§ 45
First part	‘Notes with concern the increased financialisation of the housing market, in particular in cities, whereby investors treat housing as a tradable asset rather than a human right; calls on the Commission to assess the contribution of EU policies and regulations to the financialisation of the housing market and the ability of national and local authorities to ensure the right to housing,’
Second part	‘and, where appropriate, to put forward legislative proposals to counter financialisation of the housing market by mid-2021;’
Third part	‘calls on the Member States and local authorities to put in place appropriate measures to counter speculative investment, to adopt policies favouring long-term investments in the housing market, and to develop urban and rural planning policies that favour affordable housing, social mix and social cohesion’ without the words: ‘to put in place appropriate measures to counter speculative investment’
Fourth part	those words
§ 47
First part	Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘and for a ban on the eviction of tenants and owner-occupiers without rehousing’
Second part	those words
§ 51
First part	Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘calls in this regard for a reform of the economic governance framework allowing Member States to make the green and social public investments needed, including those related to the development and improvement of social, public, affordable and energy-efficient housing;’
Second part	those words
§ 53
First part	Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘calls in this regards for investment through the European Regional Development Fund, the Just Transition Fund, InvestEU, ESF+, Horizon Europe and Next Generation EU, and especially through the Recovery and Resilience Facility, Coronavirus Response Investment Initiative (CRII) and the Coronavirus Response Investment Initiative Plus (CRII+); calls for greater synergies between these instruments;’
Second part	those words
Recital AW
First part	Text as a whole excluding the words: ‘spurred on by gentrification, touristification and financialisation of the housing markets’
Second part	those words

§ 15

First part ‘Notes that some of the most harmful third jurisdictions, including the Cayman Islands and Bermuda, were removed from the list upon their introduction of very minimal substance criteria and weak enforcement measures; highlights that such decisions may raise questions regarding the authenticity of specific activities and the impartiality of the decision-making process, and undermine public trust; calls for the strengthening of the screening criteria, including substance requirements based on a formulaic approach, as well as proportionality requirements and their monitoring, to increase the effectiveness of the list and its ability to meet new challenges posed by the digitalisation of the economy; calls on the Council to include the automatic listing of third jurisdictions with a 0 % corporate tax rate or with no taxes on companies’ profits as a standalone criterion; notes with concern that third countries may repeal non-compliant tax regimes but substitute them with new ones that are potentially harmful to the EU;’

Second part ‘recalls the importance of public country-by-country reporting information in order to monitor the substance requirements;’

§ 24

First part ‘Calls for State aid rules and Member States’ national support programmes to ensure that businesses with economic links to non-cooperative jurisdictions, such as those resident for tax purposes in such jurisdictions, are not eligible for support; emphasises the importance of this in the context of intra-European solidarity and trust-building between Member States;’

Second part ‘recalls that transparency through public country-by-country reporting for all sectors is needed to ensure that this is the case; calls on the Council to urgently conclude discussions and adopt its general approach on the legislative proposal;’

First part ‘Considers that the fair taxation criterion should not be limited to the preferential nature of tax measures, but should look at broad tax exemptions and transfer pricing mismatches; recalls that the current listing process for third countries does not include a standalone criterion on 0 % or very low tax rates;’

Second part ‘calls on the Commission and the Code of Conduct Group to include in the assessment tax measures leading to low levels of taxation in line with the ongoing negotiations on Pillar II of the OECD/G20 Inclusive Framework, particularly as regards minimum taxation; calls on the Commission and the Council to propose a minimum effective level of taxation that would constitute a standalone criterion for the EU list;’
