Requests for split votes

The Left

First part

'Regrets that contrary to the Political Declaration which envisaged an ambitious, broad, deep and flexible partnership in the field of foreign policy, security and defence, the UK refused to negotiate on these aspects as part of the agreement; recalls nevertheless that it is in both sides' interest to maintain close and lasting cooperation in these fields, particularly for the promotion of peace, security, including counter-terrorism, promoting a rules-based global order, effective multilateralism, the UN Charter, consolidation of democracy and the rule of law, and the protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms as per Article 21 TEU;'

Second part

'proposes that future cooperation and coordination between the EU and UK should be governed by a systemic platform for high-level consultations and coordination on foreign policy issues, including challenges posed by countries such as Russia and China, a close engagement on security matters, including in the framework of EU-NATO cooperation, and a systematic preferential cooperation as regards in particular peacekeeping operations; calls in particular for in-depth cooperation and coordination with the UK as regards sanctions policies with the EU given the shared values and interests and for the establishment of a coordination mechanism in this respect;'

First part 'Reiterates that the UK's withdrawal from the EU is a historic mistake'

Second part 'and recalls that the EU has always respected the UK's decision'

Third part 'while insisting that the UK must also accept the consequences of leaving the EU and that a third country cannot have the same rights and benefits as a Member State; recalls that throughout the process of the UK's withdrawal from the EU, Parliament has sought to protect the rights of EU citizens, protect peace and prosperity on the island of Ireland, protect fishing communities, uphold the EU's legal order, safeguard the autonomy of EU decision making, preserve the integrity of the customs union and internal market while avoiding social, environmental, fiscal, or regulatory dumping as this is essential to protect European jobs, industry and competitiveness and to pursue the ambitions set in the European Green Deal;'

First part 'Stresses that EU forests store about 2.5 times more carbon in soils than in tree biomass;'
Second part 'calls on the Commission to prepare the EU forest strategy that duly takes this into account and that promotes management choices which sustain this invaluable resource, and endorses restoration and protection targets as these will work for soil, biodiversity and climate;'

First part 'Calls on the Commission to ensure coherence between the new soil strategy and the upcoming EU forest strategy'
Second part 'by including sustainable soil management requirements, such as agroforestry practices, in the forest strategy;'

§ 55

First part 'Stresses that unsustainable land use releases soil carbon into the atmosphere after centuries or millennia of having been part of the soil ecosystem;'
Second part 'notes that emissions of soil carbon after forest harvest activities occur even decades after the site has been logged and replanted; highlights that although these fluxes should appear in the accounts, the use of forest biomass is still being considered as carbon neutral;'

PPE, Renew

First part 'Stresses that clearcutting forest management practice destroys the symbiotic interdependent network of trees with fungi and that subsequent reestablishment of this web after clearcut is almost non-existent;'

- Second part* 'highlights that in boreal forests this web represents the single most important mechanism of accumulation of soil organic matter and is thus crucial in the global carbon cycle; reiterates that clearcutting does not mimic natural disturbance by wildfire as unlike a clearcut site a site disturbed by wildfire is characterised by a very high amount of deadwood and soil open for colonisation of species;'
- Third part* 'calls therefore for a ban on clearcutting forest management across the EU as a complementary measure to other soil protection measures within the soil framework and relevant initiatives;'

First part 'Calls for the expansion of voluntary teleworking to more days and functions; calls for a preference to be given to hybrid meetings or fully remote meetings when they do not involve political decision making, such as hearings and exchanges of views or internal and preparatory meetings, while acknowledging that physical presence is more efficient for political negotiations, including for the provision of interpretation and for remote interpretation whenever needed; calls upon the Secretary-General to establish, following COVID-19 business continuity measures, a new flexible framework for the provision of remote interpretation for the post-COVID era; notes that excessive time spent with digital tools may have negative effects on some persons' well-being; calls for a revision of mission rules by the end of 2022 to ensure a proper needs-based approval, a specific justification for authorisation concerning all missions, requirements for low carbon transport modes without hindering Members in the fulfilment of their mandate and the exclusion of the most harmful modes of transport with the exception of extreme cases where alternative transport modes for long journeys or towards areas that are difficult to access would disrupt the balance between the environmental target and the efficiency of the parliamentary work; expects fully remote preparatory meetings and post-mission debriefings for all official delegation visits as a condition for authorisation, and the limiting of authorisation of delegations to only those within entitlements from 2022;'

Second part 'calls for the Bureau to ensure that extraordinary committee meetings in Strasbourg are strictly limited to exceptional circumstances and that they are required to be duly justified before they are approved in each individual case;'

Second part 'believes that the experience gained and investments made in remote working and meetings can serve as a basis for adapting staff mission needs;'

Third part 'recalls that according to the Treaty on European Union, the European Parliament is to have its seat in Strasbourg; notes that permanent changes would require a Treaty change for which unanimity is needed;'

First part

'Calls on the Commission, in accordance with its EPSR Action Plan, to put forward a proposal for the revision of the Barcelona targets and the ECEC quality framework in order to support further upward convergence among Member States in the field of ECEC; stresses the need for EU initiatives to support online and distance learning for more flexible and inclusive primary and secondary education, while preserving face-to-face learning as the primary education method with guaranteed accessibility for all children, specifically children with disabilities; calls on the Member States to bridge the digital divide by scaling up and prioritising internet connectivity in remote and rural areas, as 10 % of households in the EU are still lacking internet access;'

Second part

'calls for a public-private partnership at pan-European level for investing in reducing the digital divide and empowering children through digital and entrepreneurial skills;'

Third part

'stresses the importance of equal access to digital infrastructure and skills for children, teachers and parents alike, in both urban and rural settings, in order to avoid a digital divide, as well for children in remote and outlying regions; calls on the Commission and the Member States to provide financial support to areas in need of technological upgrading and comprehensive digital training for both teachers and students, in order to enable them to adapt to new technologies;'

§ 24

First part

'Calls on the Member States to work out specific strategies to protect children from online sexual abuse and exploitation, since in isolation children spend more time online which increases the risk of their exposure to online abuse, including child pornography and online bullying; urges Member States to conduct information campaigns for both parents and children regarding the dangers to which children are exposed in the online environment;'

‘whereas the Child Guarantee is one of the flagship social policy initiatives listed in Commission’s political guidelines and the Commission Work Programme 2021, and must be further boosted in the future by ambitious policies and targets; whereas this issue must be on the agenda of the Conference for the Future of Europe; whereas the EPSR and the 2013 Commission Recommendation ‘Investing in Children: Breaking the cycle of disadvantage’ remain important guiding principles for reducing child poverty, improving child well-being ,and providing a stable future, while reducing early school leaving; whereas in the Action Plan on implementing the EPSR the Commission has set a target of reducing the number of people at risk of poverty or social exclusion in the EU by at least 15 million by 2030 – including at least 5 million children;’

Second part ‘whereas negative gender stereotypes and social conditioning leading to the so called ‘dream gap’ or ‘entitlement gap’ and a lack of women’s representation in leadership positions condition girls’ career and education choices from an early age, and therefore contribute to increasing inequality and gender segmentation between men and women in certain sectors of the job market , in particular science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) careers;’

‘whereas local and regional authorities are at the forefront of work to tackle child poverty and exploitation, and therefore have a crucial responsibility in preventing marginalisation and social exclusion; whereas national authorities should provide them with sufficient means to meet these objectives,’

Second part ‘whenever appropriate;’

First part

‘Believes that it is crucial to make considerable investments in children in order to eradicate child poverty and to enable them to grow and enjoy their full rights in the EU; stresses that this requires a holistic approach to early childhood development, starting with the first 1 000 days, which should guarantee maternal health, including mental health, safety, security and responsive caregiving; calls on Member States to ensure a strategic and comprehensive approach to implementing the Child Guarantee through adequate policies and resources, including through labour market integration, work-life balance measures for parents and guardians, and income support for families and households, so that financial barriers do not prevent children from accessing quality and inclusive services;’

Second part ‘calls for an overarching European anti-poverty strategy, with ambitious targets for reducing poverty and homelessness and ending extreme poverty in Europe by 2030, especially among children, in line with the principles laid down in the EPSR and the UN SDGs and building on the headline targets set out in the EPSR Action Plan;’

First part

'Calls on the Member States to prioritise funding for children's rights according to the needs identified at national and regional level and strongly encourages them to go beyond the predefined allocations in EU funding schemes; calls on the Member States to inform, train and support local and regional authorities in securing EU funding; calls on Member States to ensure a coordinated approach in the programming and implementation of EU funds, and to speed up their implementation and dedicate all possible national resources, complemented by EU funds such as the European Social Fund Plus (ESF+), Recovery Assistance for Cohesion and the Territories of Europe (React-EU), the Recovery and Resilience Facility (RRF), the European Regional Development Fund (ERDF), InvestEU, Erasmus+, the Asylum and Migration Fund (AMF) and EU4Health, to the fight against child poverty and social exclusion; recalls that Member States must include dedicated measures investing in children and young people in their national recovery and resilience plans in order to access the fund, as per the "Next Generation" pillar of the RRF;'

Second part

'recalls the possibilities afforded by Next Generation EU to provide financial support also to organisations, for example NGOs and charities, and social help to families in need; Calls in this regard on all Member States, not only those that are most affected by child poverty, to allocate at least 5 % of the ESF+ resources under shared management to support activities under the European Child Guarantee;'

§ 1

First part 'Highlights, with regard to the implementation of the Union budget, the importance of complying with the principle of sound financial management as enshrined in Article 317 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU),'

Second part 'as well as the importance of achieving programmes priorities and objectives which contribute to strengthening the European integration and creating an ever closer Union;'

§ 66

First part Text as a whole without the words: 'notes the Commission's explanation that the slower absorption rate is partly related to the late adoption of the Common Provisions Regulation (CPR), the time needed for authorities to set up an effective delivery programme and compliance systems, and the changes introduced in the regulations in the 2014-2020 programming period, such as the high level of annual prefinancing and the new rule for automatic decommitments (n+3);'

Second part those words

- First part* 'Takes note that the 2014 reform of the Staff Regulations brought savings of 4,2 billions on the 2014–2020 MFF, which represents 0,4 % of the overall MFF; recalls that the 2014 reform generated unquestionable negative effects on the staff, which was confirmed by the Court in 2019, and regrets that it is nearly impossible to know their financial cost in order to have a realistic image of the savings; notes the several policies and actions designed by the Commission to help mitigate the negative effects and expects that the lessons learned will be reflected on the Commission's new HR Strategy to be adopted in 2021;'
- Second part* 'reiterates the serious consequences that any budgetary cut in administration or staff reduction may have in the future of the European civil service and the implementation of the Union's policies;'

§ 37

- First part* 'Recalls the increasing gap between commitments and payments and the increase in the size of the Union budget (the Court's rapid case review, 'Outstanding commitments – a closer look') which poses a serious challenge for the discharge authority too; notes that the long-term EU budget increased from 1.083 to 1.800 billion Euro for 2021-2027, including the EU Recovery plan Next Generation EU; calls on the Commission to monitor the implementation of the national recovery and resilience plans at regular intervals to ensure that the state aid rules are fulfilled and report to the discharge authority;'
- Second part* 'stresses that a failure of this request could lead to a refusal of the Discharge procedure in 2020;'

- First part* 'Is concerned that the current staffing situation is insufficient to cope with the increasing EU budget; stresses that an increase of the administrative capacities in the Court and the relevant secretariats in the European Parliament is indispensable;'
- Second part* 'stresses if these requirements are not met it can lead to a refusal of the 2020 discharge;'

§ 270

First part 'Is concerned by the Court's opinion that there are strong indications that the Union will not meet the 2030 climate and energy targets; notes that according to the Commission, there was only limited progress in the reduction of the negative environmental impacts stemming from the use of natural resources; highlights the Court observation that half of the Union Member States were at risk of not generating enough electricity from renewable energy to meet their 2020 targets; notes that in the Court's landscape review of Union action on energy and climate change, the Court reported that the reduction in greenhouse gas emissions projected by Member States falls short of the 40 % target for 2030;'

Second part 'calls on the Commission to re-evaluate the results due to the impact of Covid-19 pandemic and the Green Deal package;'

§ 351

First part 'Remains deeply worried by reports about agricultural funds ending up in the pockets of autocrat leaders and their cronies; reiterates that this is a severe injustice towards EU tax payers and particularly towards small farmers and rural communities;'

§ 142

First part 'Points to a recent study submitted to Parliament's Committee on Environment, Public Health and Food Safety; highlights the study's conclusion that "in a carbon neutrality pathway, it is evident that Parliament needs to consider operation in one site";'

Second part 'recalls that Parliament has committed to reducing its carbon footprint in its resolution of 28 November 2019; recalls that in the same resolution Parliament declared a climate and environment emergency;'

Third part 'notes that Brussels is Parliament's largest centre of activity, that it hosts the Council and the Commission but also other stakeholders, NGOs, civil society organisations and Member State representations; considers therefore that retaining Strasbourg as its Seat is unsustainable and indefensible;'

First part

'Recalls Rule 11(4) of Parliament's Rules of Procedure, as adopted by the Bureau on 11 March 2019, which provides that "The Bureau shall provide the necessary infrastructure on Members' online page on Parliament's website for those Members who wish to publish a voluntary audit or confirmation, as provided for under the applicable rules of the Statute for Members and its implementing rules, that their use of the General Expenditure Allowance complies with the applicable rules of the Statute for Members and its implementing measures"; notes that such publications are made individually and optionally under the Members' own responsibility and that Parliament's administration is not responsible for compiling the information provided;'

Second part

'calls on Parliament's services to send a yearly reminder to Members in relation to this possibility;'

Third part

'calls on Parliament to regularly inform the discharge authority of how many Members follow these recommendations in order for the spending of Union taxpayers' money to become more transparent and accountable;'

ID

First part

'Is concerned by the lack of diversity among Parliament's staff; calls on the Secretary-General to make increasing diversity a priority;'

Second part

'takes note of the difficulty of recruiting IT and financial specialists and staff at lower grades in Luxembourg, especially in the AST-SC category; stresses that the introduction of a correction coefficient that takes account of the higher living costs in this place of work together with recruitment at higher grades is necessary to solve this structural problem and reiterates, in this regard, its request to the Commission in the frame of the 2018 discharge procedure; stresses that a preliminary factual analysis that the Court addressed to the Secretary-General in this context shows that the selection process organised by the European Personnel Selection Office is not adapted to small-scale, targeted competitions, which are those most suited to the current recruitment needs of Union institutions; notes with satisfaction Parliament's active involvement in an inter-institutional effort in reviewing the way competitions are currently run by European Personnel Selection Office; calls for a new selection framework to be developed for specialist competitions and the introduction of a mechanism for regularly reviewing its selection process; calls on the Secretary-General to organise specialist competitions in-house when appropriate;'

§ 115

First part 'Welcomes the fact that promoting equal opportunities is a key component of Parliament's human resource policy; facilitating the employment and strengthening the integration of disabled persons;'

Second part 'expresses its satisfaction as regards the fact that the gender equality roadmap continues to be implemented through concrete actions and that on 13 January 2020, the Bureau approved a set of targets for gender balance in senior and middle management posts in Parliament's Secretariat to be achieved by 2024: 50% female heads of units and directors, 40% female directors-general; stresses the need for the Bureau to further strengthen its commitment to gender equality by committing to more ambitious targets to be achieved by 2022: 50% female heads of units and directors, 50% female directors-general; calls on the Bureau to also formulate ambitious targets for lower management posts;'

First part 'Supports the launch of an awareness raising campaign in 2019 to promote a zero-tolerance policy on harassment in the workplace; recognises Parliament's zero tolerance policy towards harassment at any and all levels including Members, staff and APAs; notes that following the 2019 elections, all Members were required to sign a declaration confirming their commitment to complying with the code of appropriate behaviour incorporated in Parliament's Rules of Procedure in January 2019; however, regrets that 10 new harassment cases were opened in 2019 out of which 4 cases concerned sexual harassment; welcomes the fact that the parliament provides voluntary trainings on dignity and respect at work for Members in order to lead by example;'

Second part 'deeply regrets in this context that the Bureau has refused to implement the will of the plenary expressed on several occasions to institute anti-harassment trainings for all staff and Members on a compulsory basis; urges the Bureau to implement this request without further delay;'

Second part

'highlights the contribution of teleworking arrangements and remote voting to the further reduction of Parliament's carbon footprint; stresses the need for Parliament's staff and Members to be provided the opportunity to continue the conduct of so-called hybrid meetings as well as remote voting; calls on the Bureau to continue providing mechanisms to facilitate these arrangements in future;'

§ 135

First part

'Highlights that the COVID-19 crisis has called for decisions with a direct impact on the staff of Parliament, including subcontracted and freelance employees; points in this regard inter alia to the decision to close the European House of History, the Europa Experience sites and the European Union Liaison Offices and to the altered circumstances for freelance interpreters and the cleaning and restoration staff; acknowledges that, in the current circumstances related to the spread of COVID-19, the institutions, including Parliament, must take decisions in a fast and unbureaucratic manner to prevent a further spread of the virus and to keep its staff safe; calls, however, on Parliament to honour its social responsibilities in each decision,'

Second part

'to avoid, or to compensate for, any changes in income, and to avoid coronavirus-related dismissals of people working on Parliament's premises by all means necessary;'

§ 143

First part

'Reiterates that the COVID-19 crisis constitutes a force majeure situation which has forced Parliament to scrap a substantial amount of the 12 Strasbourg sessions from the 2020 parliamentary calendar;'

Second part

'upholds that costs and health consequences caused by the COVID-19 crisis should not be compounded by costly moves to Strasbourg; strongly urges the Member States, by way of derogation from the Treaty, to refrain from insisting on compensatory sessions in Strasbourg;'

§ 152

First part

'Supports the use of the Community eco-management and audit scheme (EMAS), which is a management instrument of the Union for private and public organisations to evaluate and improve their environmental performance in accordance with Regulation (EC) No 1221/2009; acknowledges that Parliament is the first Union institution to become carbon neutral in 2016 due to offsetting 100 % of its irreducible emissions; supports measures taken to reduce Parliament's emissions even further;'

Requests that the Parliament respects the principles, rights and obligations laid down in the Charter of Fundamental Rights and Regulation No 1/1958, as well as in internal guidelines and decisions, such as the Code of Good Administrative Behaviour.'

Second part

'Consequently, calls on the Parliament to provide the necessary human resources to ensure that multilingualism is respected, by increasing the number of staff responsible for translation and interpretation;'

Amendment 45

First part 'regrets that the bureau continues to ignore the plenary's will expressed on numerous occasions to further reform the general expenditure allowance, thereby actively preventing Members' expenses of Union taxpayers' money from becoming more transparent and accountable;'

Second part 'urges the bureau to immediately implement the Plenary's decisions from the 2017 and 2018 Parliament's discharge reports introducing changes to the rules governing the general expenditure allowance;'

Second part 'notes that a single seat can only be achieved by a unanimous Treaty change;'

Third part 'recalls that a vast majority of Members of Parliament expressed, in various resolutions, support for a single Seat to ensure efficient spending of Union taxpayers' money; urges the Council to take note of Parliament's position;'

- Second part* 'notes that according to its mandate, the Frontex Scrutiny Working Group will monitor the Agency's internal management, including procedures for reporting and handling of complaints; encourages the Agency to cooperate with the Frontex Scrutiny Working Group to clarify any concerns in this regard and follow up on future recommendations made regarding this aspect on the functioning of the Agency;'

- First part* 'Notes the repeated allegations of complicity of the Agency in fundamental rights violations by the Greek authorities concerning its involvement in migrant's pushbacks;'
- Second part* 'recalls that the Agency is mandated to control borders while ensuring that border controls are conducted in accordance with the fundamental rights, the Convention relating to the Status of Refugees, as provided in Regulation (EU) 2016/399 and Regulation (EU) 2019/1896, which in its Article 46 obliges the executive director to suspend, terminate or not launch activities in case of fundamental rights violations; notes the establishment of the Working Group on Fundamental Rights and Legal Operational Aspects in the Aegean Sea (WG FRaLO); notes that WG FRaLO identified 13 relevant incidents which were later examined - 8 were clarified according to the final report of the Frontex Management Board Working Group and 5 still under consideration; stresses the need to involve the Frontex Scrutiny Working Group, established by the Parliament's Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs, to fully clarify the incidents; calls on the Agency to regularly inform Parliament about the Agency's work at the external borders;'

- First part* 'Expresses great concern that in spite of being aware, as early as March 2019, of the changes that entered into force in December 2019 with regards to the role and competences of the fundamental rights officer and the fundamental rights monitors, the executive leadership of the Agency did not take the necessary measures to adapt to those changes, resulting in repeated delays in the implementation of provisions concerning the respect for fundamental rights within the Agency;'
- Second part* 'deeply deplores the manner in which the executive director decided to bypass the management board in the replacement procedure of the fundamental rights officer at the end of 2019;'
- Third part* 'notes with concern that the procedure had started just as the fundamental rights officer was returning from an extended illness, informing the incumbent on a very short notice; highlights that the Agency had to suspend the publication of the vacancy note for the post of fundamental rights officer due to the lack of compliance with relevant legislation;'
- Fourth part* 'underlines the comments made by the Commission with regard to that situation as "plain and simply unlawful";'
- Fifth part* 'takes note that currently the post of fundamental rights officer is occupied ad interim by a former member of the cabinet of the executive director;'
- Sixth part* 'is seriously concerned over media reports that the executive director had repeatedly ignored reports and advice coming from the fundamental rights officer, concerning its operations in several Member States;'
- Seventh part* 'underlines that up until February 2021 the Agency had not recruited a single person for the post of fundamental rights monitor;'
- Eighth part* 'expresses serious concerns over the Commission remarks concerning the Agency's reluctance to implement guidance provided by the Commission with regard to recruitment, including the recruitment of the fundamental rights officer and monitors, further obstructing and delaying this process;'
- Ninth part* 'urges the Agency to fully comply with all obligations stemming from Regulation (EU) 2019/1896 and to report to the discharge authority on the progress made;'

Amendment 6/rev.

- First part* 'Underlines that certain officials fill in declarations of absence of conflicts of interest and provide self-assessments with regard to respect for ethical standards; highlights, however, that such self-declarations and self-assessments are not sufficient and that additional scrutiny is therefore needed;'
- Second part* 'underlines that this task should fall under the competence of an independent specialised third party, in the form of an independent ethics body;'

Amendment 8

First part 'Highlights that the concerns identified in the management of the Agency in 2019 do not question the existence, legitimacy or mandate of the Agency; continues to consider the Agency as an essential tool in the management of EU's external borders with a duty to ensure the proper functioning of the Schengen area and the freedom of movement within the EU; expects the Agency to fully implement the recommendations of WG FRaLO and to present to the discharge authority concrete actions with a clear timetable to address the problems identified;'

Amendment 7

First part 'Recalls Parliament's regular stance that the Commission should ensure that any trust fund established as a new development tool must always be in line with the Union's overall strategy and development policy objectives, i.e. the reduction and eradication of poverty'

Second part 'and must, in particular, ensure that the security interests of European countries do not override the needs of the recipient populations; encourages the Commission to re-consider financial aid to EUTF projects deflecting from this centreline;'

Amendment 8

First part 'Stresses that in order to meet the policy objectives, the EUTF must address the root causes of destabilisation, forced displacement and irregular migration by promoting resilience, economic opportunities, equal opportunities, security of populations and human and social development;'

Second part 'observes with great concern that instead of helping to address those causes of destabilisation, the EU funds in 2019 were increasingly spent on helping to close borders, stiffen migration and push for returns of migrants back to Africa;'

Miscellaneous
