First part Text as a whole without the words: 'second European Anti-Fraud Office (OLAF),' and the words 'which is underway only nine months after the first OLAF investigation was closed,'
Second part those words

First part 'Draws attention to the fact that the Commission, the Management Board and OLAF failed to share this information with Parliament despite the Frontex Scrutiny Working Group (FSWG) highlighting how arguments related to confidentiality had hampered democratic control by Parliament and despite the FSWG's specific request that the Commission keep it regularly informed of any activities or initiatives that might have an impact on fundamental rights,'
Second part 'takes the view that this failure constitutes a breach of the principle of mutual and sincere cooperation which governs relationships between institutions, agencies, bodies and offices of the Union;'

First part Text as a whole without the words: 'for OLAF reports on the Agency to be made public in cases of overriding public interest in disclosure and, in all cases,'
Second part those words

§ 11

First part	Text as a whole without the words: 'and to consider extending the invitations to all agenda items, including in camera points,' and 'without exception'
Second part	those words
§ 12
First part	Text as a whole without the words: 'points out that, based on the Agency's updated mandate, the number of FROMs should continue to grow as the overall size of the standing corps increases;'
Second part	those words
First part	'Welcomes the Agency's decision to scale down its activities in Lithuania in July 2022 in the light of the judgment of the Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU) on 30 June 2022 as regards the Lithuanian law and decrees on asylum and migration;'
Second part	'notes that the Agency still has officers on the ground supporting national authorities with border checks at selected border crossing points and assisting return-related activities in Lithuania; recommends that the Agency take a more proactive approach to protecting the Union's principles and values in line with CJEU rulings;'
§ 16
First part	'Recalls that, although the Agency withdrew from operations in Hungary in January 2021 following a clear CJEU ruling in December 2020, it continues to support Hungarian authorities in carrying out returns;'
Second part	'reiterates the FSWG's calls on the executive director to immediately suspend support for return-related operations from Hungary;'
First part	Text as a whole without the words: 'in order to be able to fully consider the fundamental rights impact of cooperating with that country'
Second part	those words
Recital C
First part	'whereas in response to the FSWG report, the Agency and its Management Board have made efforts to implement the recommendations of FSWG and have reported that they have implemented 36 FSWG recommendations to date; whereas a limited number of recommendations are still pending'
Second part	'including those relating to Frontex operations in Greece and Hungary, better whistle-blower protection, exceptional reporting under the Serious Incident Reports mechanism, communication with national governments, adequate handling of allegations of fundamental rights violations by Member States;'
Recital D
First part	'whereas the OLAF report of 15 February 2022 on investigations into Frontex revealed serious misconduct and other irregularities by three individuals employed by the Agency, including the former Executive Director, as well as three other key issues, namely the fact that the FRO was prevented from accessing operational information, the fact that the FRO was not assigned as case handler for reports on serious incidents with alleged violations of fundamental rights, and the fact that staff members who reported serious incidents to the hierarchy were ignored by the individuals investigated by OLAF; whereas there was a long delay for Members of the Parliament and the FRO to be granted access to the OLAF report;'
Second part	'whereas the decision not to make the OLAF report on Frontex' activities promptly available to Parliament, affected the powers of democratic scrutiny over the Agency's responsibilities for fundamental rights violations; whereas - despite multiple requests - based on legal concerns related to the procedural rights of the persons of interest, the report was not made public until 31.10.22 whereas two additional OLAF reports are expected to be presented this year in relation to Frontex;'
Recital E
First part	Text as a whole without the words: 'and the Agency's serious shortcomings regarding fundamental rights protection of asylum seekers and migrants, transparency, data protection, alleged sexual harassment'
Second part	those words
Recital I

First part	'whereas, in its judgement of 30 June 2022, the CJEU found that Lithuanian legislation permitting the denial of international protection and the placing in automatic detention of applicants solely on the grounds that they have irregularly crossed the border is incompatible with Union law; whereas, as of July 2022, Frontex no longer participates or supports Lithuania with border surveillance; whereas, the Agency maintained its joint operation Terra in Lithuania, with agents working on border checks and returns,'
Second part	'even after the judgment of the CJEU;'
Recital O
First part	Text as a whole without the words: 'North Macedonia, Montenegro, and Moldova'
Second part	those words
recital Q
First part	'whereas, on 20 March 2023, the Council decided to extend the mandate of the EU CSDP operation EUNAVFOR MED IRINI until March 2025, tasked, inter alia, to support capacity building and training of the Libyan Coast Guard and Navy; whereas Frontex has a working relationship with that operation; whereas Frontex assets have been transmitting information to the Libyan Maritime Rescue Coordination Centre about people in distress at sea'
Second part	'whereas in its report A/HRC/52/83, the UN Independent Fact-Finding Mission to Libya raised serious concerns about the involvement of Libyan actors in crimes against humanity and gross human rights violations against migrants;'

First part	'Notes the Agency's mandate to provide better situational awareness in the maritime domain and to transmit that information to the relevant authorities regarding competence for search and rescue operations; takes note of the Parliament's position that all actors in the Mediterranean should proactively transmit information and, where appropriate, relay mayday messages concerning persons in distress at sea to the authorities responsible for SAR operations and, where appropriate, to any vessels in the vicinity that could imminently engage in search and rescue; reiterates the obligation under the international law of the sea to render assistance to persons found in distress at sea and to take them to the nearest safe port; notes that Regulation (EU) No 656/2014 establishing rules for the surveillance of the external sea borders in the context of operational cooperation coordinated by Frontex lays down the rules for the Agency's involvement in search and rescue operations;'
Second part	'underlines that the Agency could do more to increase the capacity of the EU and Member States to carry out search and rescue operations, notably by investing in appropriate assets for such operations;'

First part	'Expresses severe concern regarding the serious and persistent allegations made against Greek authorities in relation to pushbacks and violence against migrants;' without the words: 'severe' and 'serious and persistent'
Second part	'severe' and 'serious and persistent'
Third part	'is convinced that respect for the principles and values of the Union must be the condition sine qua non for Frontex to commit to a joint operation with a Member State;' without the words: 'sine qua non'
Fourth part	'sine qua non'
Fifth part	'is further convinced that, should a Member State be unable to respect those principles and values, then the Agency should scale down and repurpose its operations towards monitoring activities in the light of Article 46 of its mandate, while maintaining its presence on the ground in order not to leave a vacuum;'
Sixth part	'regrets that the Agency has so far refrained from scaling down or repurposing its operations in Greece;'

Miscellaneous

Lena Düpont had moved the following oral amendment to recital G:

'whereas national human rights institutions, Council of Europe bodies, UNHCR, media and NGOs have issued further reports on alleged push-backs and other serious fundamental rights violations including violence against migrants at the EU's external land and sea borders, including in the context of joint border surveillance operations in which Frontex participated; whereas four legal actions in relation to alleged push-backs have been brought against Frontex before the General Court of the EU, of which two were ruled inadmissible and two are pending;'
